

Navy Ordered Pacific Convoy 12 Days Before Pearl Harbor

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—Republicans today raised the question whether the American cruiser Boise sighted at sea the Japanese force which attacked Pearl Harbor but failed to report it because of orders for "radio silence."

By JACK BELL
Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Navy ordered the conveying of merchant shipping in the Pacific 12 days before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, a Senate House Inquiry Committee learned today.

Admiral T. B. Inglis put into the record of the disaster investigation a copy of an order issued Nov. 25, 1941, by Admiral Harold E. Stark, then chief of naval operations.

Stark instructed naval officials at San Francisco to route all merchant shipping on a southern route and to "provide necessary escort."

Inglis testified copies of the order went to Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, commander in chief of the fleet at Pearl Harbor, and others.

In a series of rapid fire questions, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) established that at least two convoys were on the Pacific in the week before the Japanese attack. He asked Inglis if any German submarines or surface vessels were in those waters and the admiral said he thought not.

8-Ship Convoy
Inglis testified that the heavy cruiser Pensacola was conveying eight ships west bound. He did not mention the makeup of the other convoy.

Ferguson asked Inglis to obtain information on the whereabouts at that time of the cruiser Boise, which the Michigan senator indicated he thought was conveying a number of ships, including the Merchantman, American Leader.

Ferguson questioned Inglis about the preparation of his statement before the committee yesterday. Inglis gave them what he described as a factual account of the actual Japanese attack.

It developed that some portions of the original draft of the testimony had been deleted by Inglis at the suggestion of the Navy judge advocate general's office and after consultation with counsel for the investigating committee.

Nation Not Unified
Inglis testified that as a result of these suggestions he had cut out a paragraph which he said suggested "that the nation as a whole was not unified before Pearl Harbor." He said he thought this had contributed to lack of preparedness on the part of the army and navy.

"Do you think the people were to blame for Pearl Harbor?" Ferguson demanded, noting that President Truman had made a somewhat similar statement in releasing army and navy reports on their investigations of the disaster.

"My opinion is that that did contribute somewhat to Pearl Harbor," the witness replied.

Anticipated War
A Japanese message to Tokyo intercepted nearly a month before Pearl Harbor described the late President Roosevelt as believing that that Japan would be "on the move soon."

The message, sent by Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura on Nov. 10, 1941, quoted "a certain cabinet member" as having told Nomura (Please Turn to Page 8)

WORK IS BEGUN ON NEW METERS

Six weeks later than the time promised for the new parking meters when the contract was let by the Gettysburg council on September 4, a borough crew today began installing the bases and standards.

Leroy Weber, construction engineer for the C. K. Koonz Equipment company, of Pittsburgh, through whom the Miller meters, made in Chicago, were ordered, arrived in Gettysburg Tuesday. The bases and standards reached here Thursday.

The bases and standards were 20 days in transit, Vernon Corle, member of the safety committee said. The meters themselves were shipped five days later, and should be here before the job of installing the standards is completed, he added.

Contract price for the meters was $75 plus, not to exceed $3 for installation. The contract called for "200 meters, more or less." They are to be placed around center square and on York, Baltimore, Chambersburg and Carlisle streets, on York to Stratton, Baltimore to High, Chambersburg to Washington, and Carlisle to Water street. Mr. Corle said 218 meters will be placed.

The meters will be of the two-hour variety requiring 10 pennies or two nickles for a two-hour parking period between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. on Saturdays. Motorists will not be required to use the meters Sundays or holidays.

In addition to these, a committee was named for a survey of chapter needs, composed of Mrs. Leroy Winebrenner, Mrs. S. B. Johnston and Mrs. Walter Danforth.

Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chapter chairman, presided. Reports of committees were received. The executive board received and accepted the resignation of Henry M. Scharf, chairman of the war fund committee. No successor was named.

The annual chapter meeting will be held the latter part of January when the election of officers and a board of directors will take place, and service bars and pins awarded to Red Cross volunteers who have qualified. The meeting is open to every resident of the county who contributed $1 or more to the Red Cross. All such members over 21 are entitled to vote.

Delegate Elected
Mrs. Leroy Winebrenner was elected a delegate from the chapter to the annual meeting of delegates of chapters of the American National Red Cross in Washington December 12 for the purpose of electing two members of the central committee.

Mrs. Earl Bowen gave a report on her attendance at the National Special Services conference in Washington last week, and said also that the staff assistants' corps was completing a record of the hours of service of Adams county volunteers for the purpose of awarding the bars and pins.

The production report for the year showed 214 army and 34 navy sweaters made; 41 army muffs, 46 army and eight navy helmets, 133 pairs of army gloves; 157 navy watch caps, eight navy scarves, 250 women's wool skirts, 80 girl's dresses, 20 girl's skirts, 35 girl's slips, as well as many other items, during the year. There were 55,400 surgical dressings and pads made, 788 kit bags filled and 313 unfilled made.

The home service report showed 2,521 home visits, as follows: army, 1,428; navy, 446; ex-service, 466; civilian, 181, an average of 210 visits per month for the year. Office visits totaled 1,857; home visits, 436; reference visits, 121, and telephone calls made, 613. Total cost was $692.81, an average of $57.73 per month.

Blood Donors Typed
R. H. Lippy, chairman of the blood donor committee, reported approximately 200 of those who had given blood during visits of the mobile unit to Gettysburg have been typed and are being used by the hospital.

Mrs. Charles Lauer, chairman of the camp and hospital committee, reported nine Christmas boxes had been sent to armed guards on ships on the high seas.

Nearly all the schools in Adams county have been contacted by the Junior Red Cross committee, Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, chairman, reported, and the remainder will be reached within two weeks.

The war fund quota for 1945 was $28,000, it was reported, and the total contributed to September 1 was $35,403.50. Of this, 62.5 per cent was sent to national headquarters and 37.5 per cent retained for chapter expenses.

GIFTS SOUGHT FOR MONT ALTO

Adams county residents having contributions of toys, games, etc., for the children of the Mont Alto sanatorium were requested today by Miss Mildred Adams, home economics representative, to leave them at her office, first door to the left in the court house between now and December 15.

The 12 home economics extension groups in the county have again undertaken the supplying of gifts for the children as one of their projects, and contributions will be welcomed from others, Miss Adams said.

For the younger children, small dolls, toys and books are desired, and for older children, card games, checkers, stationery and scrap books, and for the girls, ribbons, flowers, ornaments for the hair, bright bandannas, powder and cologne are listed.

Ages run from 4 to 17 years inclusive. This is the fourth year the project has been undertaken by the home economics groups.

COUNTY NEARS HALF OF GOAL; $6,326 SHORT

Adams county is only $6,326.50 from reaching the half-way mark in its Victory Loan campaign and war finance committee officials are confident that that goal will be reached before the close of business today.

Sales of Victory bonds in the county thus far in the drive total $438,873.50, which includes $104,684.25 in E bonds. The overall county quota, including E bonds but not Corporate bonds, the quota for which has not been announced by state headquarters, is $890,000. The E bond quota is $350,000.

Fail To Report
Approximately half of the issuing agents failed to submit reports to county headquarters today and a majority of the volunteer women workers have not as yet submitted reports on their sales. Despite these oversights the sale of bonds in the county in the final bond drive is progressing "about as usual" according to one observer.

"During the last three drives our workers have delayed submitting their reports," the observer said. "This prevented us from giving a complete report each day. Many of the workers are trying to take care of their business and other work in addition to selling Victory bonds and they are neglecting to send us their daily reports. However, I feel confident that the county will attain its goal before the close of the drive December 9."

Teachers are being urged to stress the school campaign among pupils who in previous campaigns have set high records for sales. Their efforts have helped the county go "over the top" in all of the seven previous drives and the school children are expected to play a big part in the last financial campaign of the war.

Mrs. F. Campbell Symonds of Hyden, Kentucky, a National Missions worker in the rural church division of the Presbyterian Board, will be the guest speaker at the postponed November meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church to be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Symonds is appearing in the Presbyterian churches of Carlisle Presbytery during the month of November.

Mrs. Donald P. McPherson, Sr., will conduct the devotional period and Mrs. Howard McCauley will be the guest soloist. Hostesses for the meeting will include Mrs. J. P. Dalby, chairman; Mrs. Thelma Long, Mrs. Ross Myers, Mrs. H. M. McIlhenny, Mrs. Edward Utz and Mrs. John Snyder.

CHURCH WOMEN DISCUSS WAYS TO WORLD PEACE

"The Price of Enduring Peace" was discussed in the Presbyterian church here Thursday evening in a World Community Day observance sponsored locally by the committee on Christian Social Education and Action of the Gettysburg Council of Church Women.

Mrs. Ellen Tipton Buehler presided over the panel discussion in which Mrs. R. S. Saby Mrs. Harold J. Pegg and Mrs. Ralph R. Gresh participated. Each presented a 10-minute talk on sub-topics which had been previously assigned with discussion among the panel members following each presentation and a general discussion in which the audience joined concluding the program.

Mrs. Saby spoke on "World Charter" and used a blackboard to outline the organization of the International World Charter with its various councils. She declared that international understanding is the essential prerequisite to the successful operation of world government.

"Prayer, Study, Action"
In her discussion of "World Community," Mrs. Pegg told of principal means which have been proposed for achieving a community of interests throughout the world. She told the group that it will be necessary to devote as much intense action to maintain the peace as we did to win the war. The end of isolationism and the interdependence of nations was emphasized.

The concluding talk by Mrs. Ralph R. Gresh on "World Church" and the part women will play in promoting church interests through the world said that the peace program of the church is "Prayer, study and action." The training of more Christian missionaries and their service throughout the world has had a unifying effect upon the Protestant church, she asserted.

After the discussion Mrs. Gresh read to the group a proposed change in the constitution of the Gettysburg Council of Church Women by which each church organization instead of each church will be entitled to a representative on the executive board of the council. The amendment was approved.

Mrs. Verna Myers, chairman of the sponsoring committee, presided. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Dunning Idle, Sr. Miss Dorothy Moss was the soloist.

Here And There News Collected At Random

$550,000,000 will be distributed to about 7,600,000 Christmas club members by approximately 5,000 banking and savings institutions during National Prosperity Week, starting Monday, November 26, according to Herbert F. Rawlin, founder and president of Christmas club, a corporation.

The distribution is ten per cent more than last year and represents a new high since the year of the bank holiday. The average per-member distribution increased to approximately $72 compared with $70 in 1944. There are approximately 600,000 more members this year than a year ago.

New York leads the nation with the distribution of about $152,000,000; Pennsylvania, $62,000,000; Massachusetts, $54,000,000; New Jersey, $42,000,000. New Mexico is last with a distribution of about $70,000.

Figures for Gettysburg and Adams county are not available at this time. They will be announced later.

Governor Martin's Thanksgiving Proclamation is an open expression of thanks for the bountiful benefits that come to every American in the greatest nation in the world. It follows in full:

"Our Father we thank Thee. These simple words will be on our lips with reverence and fervor as never before as we join this year in the traditional observance of Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 22nd. They will rise in a great chorus from hearts overflowing with gratitude for the countless blessings which have been bestowed upon us."

"By Divine favor we have been granted victory over those who plotted in darkness to destroy all that we hold sacred. Through God's mercy our Nation has been guided safely through the perils of war. In lands across the sea helpless millions who lived as slaves under the cruel lash of tyranny have been liberated. With hope renewed our thoughts turn to (Please Turn to Page 8)

PRESENT PLAY AGAIN TONIGHT

No tickets will be sold at the door for the repeat performance of "Heart Trouble" at the Gettysburg high school auditorium this evening, it was announced today. A complete sell-out has already assured a capacity crowd.

The Mask and Wig players scored a hit before a full house at the first performance Thursday evening.

The entire cast gave impressive characterizations which resulted in the play being well received.

Three changes in the cast will be made this evening. Anna Shields will play the part of "Leonore Appleby"; Jack Moser that of "Jethro Appleby," and Ruthe Fortenbaugh will be seen as "Beatrice Tyler."

Miss Ruth Scott is directing the production.

DAMAGE SUIT IS ON TRIAL TODAY; TERM NEAR END

The collision of two trucks on the Westminster-Reisterstown road nearly two years ago furnishes the basis for a damage suit which went on trial here in Common Pleas court this morning as the November term of court neared its end. This is the last action for jury trial this term.

The suit is by Harold C. Gabler, Chambersburg, against Dwight L. Strausbaugh and Paul Strausbaugh, as executors of the will of Edward F. Strausbaugh who was the owner of one of the trucks involved in the crash.

Edward D. Strite, Esq., Chambersburg, who with Franklin E. Bigham, Esq., is representing the plaintiff was calling witnesses through the morning and as court re-convened this afternoon in his effort to prove negligence on the part of Byron Kint, Mt. Hope, Strausbaugh's driver.

Mr. Strite told the jury he will show that Kint stopped his truck on the highway in the darkness at 5 a. m. and allowed it to stand on the main section of the road without lights, flares or reflectors. He further alleged that the truck stood near a curve and a hillcrest.

Other Jurors Dismissed

The Kint truck, which was loaded with cement blocks, was struck by Gabler's gasoline tank truck. Both were headed south. The accident occurred near the Carroll-Baltimore county line January 19, 1944. No one was injured. D. W. Perry, Gabler's driver, testified this morning that he was blinded by lights of an approaching car and crashed into the parked truck.

E. V. Bullett, Esq., is the defense counsel.

After the following jurors were accepted for duty on this case, others on the November panel were discharged: Edwin Applier, Littlestown; R. 1; Plus Breighner, McSherrystown; W. Elmer Coulson, York Springs; Frank Dillon, Orrtanna; R. 2; Guy Gordon, Fairfield; R. 2; Mrs. Emma Grove, York Springs; Francis Lavelleberger, Hanover; R. 4; W. Frank Menges, York Springs; Miss Catherine Miller, Orrtanna; R. 2; Francis Murren, Hanover; R. 4; Mrs. Betty Wehler, (Please Turn to Page Two)

No Trace Of Man Who Escaped Jail

Jeri C. Caldwell, Danville, Ky., who used a bench to climb out of the jailyard at the county prison here Tuesday afternoon, remained at large today with authorities still without any real clue as to his movements after he was seen along the Littlestown highway a mile from town shortly after he escaped.

Sheriff John E. Millhimes received a call Thursday evening that a man answering the general description of the fugitive had been seen running across the highway and into a thicket near the Hoffman orphanage. The sheriff patrolled roads in that section but was unable to find any trace of the man.

Lt. Charles Binning On Inactive Duty

Lt. Charles D. Binning, 27, USNR, whose wife lives at 222 Springs avenue, has been released to inactive duty by the navy's separation center at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Lieutenant Binning has served overseas in the Atlantic and Pacific theatres for 30 months aboard the USS Bennington. He participated in the invasion of New Guinea, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa.

He graduated from Penn State college in 1940, and prior to entering the navy was employed by the Pennsylvania railroad.

First Peaceful Thanksgiving In Four Years On Thursday

Next Thursday a nation at war for almost four years, will observe its first peacetime Thanksgiving since 1941. It will observe it with a note entirely lacking on the three previous Thanksgivings, a feeling of rejoicing that the war is over.

The day this year offers a striking contrast. Last year, and in 1943 and 1942 men were fighting all over the world. There were thousands of empty chairs around the Thanksgiving board. There was a spirit of thankfulness that many of these missing faces had thus far been spared, but in many homes, the chair was empty, never to be filled again.

Next Thursday there will be vacant places in many homes, but in thousands of others the servicemen and women have returned or are near enough now to be home for this holiday. And even in families where the son, husband, brother, sister or daughter cannot be present, there is the awareness that no matter where he or she may be, bombs and bullets no longer threaten his or her safe return.

Pleanty To Eat

In spite of the continuance of rationing on some commodities, the festive board is in no danger of lacking in all that goes to provide a truly American Thanksgiving day repeat. Housewives and cooks will undoubtedly plan their supplies of sugar to cover the baking of pies, puddings and other dishes for the holiday dinner, and there will be the traditional bird, the turkey, for most homes.

The spiritual side of the day will probably be observed with deeper feelings this year, and on a new note—the note of thankfulness that the war is over. Churches of every denomination will stress this reverent offering up of thanks to Almighty God for the cessation of hostilities. And congregations will participate in church services with this feeling in mind.

Thanksgiving Everywhere

It will be Thanksgiving, not only at home but wherever Americans gather. It will be Thanksgiving for the men of the army, navy and marine corps in camps and posts at home and abroad, for there are still many thousands away from home in strange lands. The army and navy will not forget that it is a holiday for them too, insofar as they can be released from military duties.

It will be Thanksgiving for many others who escaped the oblivion of death, but must lie on beds of pain in hospitals as the result of their patriotic service to their country. They also will not be forgotten.

The holiday will find the pursuits of civilians many and varied, but whether in stadium or at fireside, football will occupy the center of the sports stage. The fortunate owners of the fall game will see their favorite teams in action. The less fortunate will get the play-by-play from radio descriptions.

This year Thanksgiving is a thanksgiving in a truer sense of the word than most living generations can remember.

Give Play Tonight At Arendtsville

A children's matinee Thursday afternoon, previewing the annual thespian efforts of the senior class at Arendtsville vocational high school, gave assurance that "Mystery At Midnight" this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium "will furnish the audience with plenty of chuckles as well as thrills replete with intrigue and mystery." All the action is packed into three acts. The performance is under the direction of Mrs. William Janson of the high school English department.

Richard Hall, president of the class, heads the cast as "Dick Lawrence," and Mary Alice Dillon capably handles the female lead as "Barbara." Other characters included: Dale Keller, "Rathburne"; Janet Pitzer, "Mrs. Wentworth"; Esther Dively, "Alma"; Robert Allison, "Cloyd Parker"; Marian Tate, "Emergence Washington"; Donald Oyler, "Rasmus Washington"; Mary Hall, "Lety Flanders," and Richard Swisher, "Oscar Jansen."

JURY ACQUITS BURKE SCOTT OF MURDER CHARGE

Freed by a verdict of "not guilty" in court Thursday evening, Burke Curtis Scott, 16-year-old Latimore township boy who was charged by state police with the murder of his father, went home this morning "to get a job and help support my mother."

The verdict of acquittal was returned by the jury of five women and seven men at 7:15 o'clock, three hours after the case had been placed in their hands for deliberation.

As court adjourned after the reading of the verdict the happy boy thanked the jury and shook hands with the group that decided upon acquittal from among four possible verdicts described to them by Judge W. C. Sheely—first degree murder with life imprisonment, second degree murder, voluntary manslaughter or acquittal.

At the outset of the trial District Attorney J. Francis Yake told the jury he was not asking the death penalty but asked a conviction for murder or manslaughter.

Mother Testifies

The boy's mother, Mrs. Belle Scott, last defense witness Thursday afternoon, was in court when the verdict was read and accepted congratulations of a number of persons in the court room when the verdict was read. Mrs. Scott had been in court throughout the two-day trial and often was quietly weeping as she heard details of her husband's death and her son's arrest for the shooting recounted in court. She retained her composure however when she testified briefly as the final witness in the trial.

Mrs. Scott, in answer to questions by Defense Counsel John P. Butt, said that when she returned home from Mechanicsburg the evening of the shooting, October 24, she was told her husband was dead. "He never seemed to like Burke as well as the other children and they disagreed when they were together. He never asked Burke right when he wanted him to do things. He'd curse him. He'd talk about correcting the children but he didn't go about it the right way," she continued.

"Violent Temper"
Mrs. Scott told of her husband's sudden fits of violent temper, often directed at Burke. "We hardly knew how to talk to him so that he wouldn't get mad. He'd been worse for the last two or three years but he always had a quick temper," she concluded. District Attorney J. Francis Yake did not cross-examine her.

The mother followed her son on the stand. He was recalled briefly in the afternoon to deny specific sections of the "confession" which state police had read into the case record on Wednesday. The most important parts which the boy denied as he reverted to the original story he gave the officers about the shooting were the sections in which he (Please Turn to Page 2)

Paul I. Steinberger, Franklin township, vs. Regina A. (Hilly) Steinberger on grounds of indignities to the person and cruel and barbarous treatment dating from June 1, 1945. The couple was married April 22, 1944 and separated two months ago.

Ada Coy Sprankle, Hamiltonban township, vs. Edward F. Sprankle on grounds of indignities dating from November 1, 1944. They were married August 12, 1944, and lived together until April 1 of this year.

ATOMIC ISSUE WILL END WAR; UP TO RUSSIANS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The atomic energy proposal of the United States, Britain and Canada is the most striking peace offer of history.

Had Hitler, even after defeat was trending on his heels, acquired this knowledge and been able to produce atomic bombs, he still could have conquered the world. And yet the United States, England and Canada being first in possession of this terrific weapon, are asking other nations to join with them in rendering it innocuous.

Will this offer be accepted? I think a good deal depends on how much suspicion or heart-burning has been developed abroad since the first atomic bomb to be used in war was dropped on Hiroshima. That's only three months ago, but doubts are like mushrooms—they grow fast.

Of course the proposal is directed mainly towards Russia. It's the old question of Big Three solidarity again. If Moscow agrees, then we can feel assured that the world is rolling along the broad highway to lasting peace. For as the all-powerful Big Three go, so will go the rest of mankind as things now stand.

Can Enforce Peace

This is so because, as so often said, the Big Three have the physical strength to enforce peace against all odds. There in its essence we have the real defense against the atomic giant—the prevention of war. President Truman, and Prime Minister Attlee and Mackenzie King recognized this principle in their statement when they pointed out that the only complete protection for civilization against the destructive use of scientific knowledge is in the prevention of war.

We can pin this thing down even closer than that, for prevention of war depends on a change in the heart of man. We can yell our heads off about peace, and create enough organizations to carpet the whole globe, but all that won't matter a tinker's dam if we haven't accepted the golden rule as our guiding light.

This obviously is a critical moment. Peace is walking the tight-rope. But you know, I believe she will make it. She will unless some fool starts to juggle the rope.

I like General Eisenhower's attitude on this question. Testifying yesterday before the House Military Committee in Washington he declared that if he thought another war was inevitable he wouldn't be there.

"I would have jumped right out of my plane over the Atlantic," he said.

CONGRESSMAN TO SPEAK HERE

Congressman Chester H. Gross will be the principal speaker Saturday afternoon at exercises to be held in the National cemetery by the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Veterans in observance of the Lincoln speech anniversary.

The exercises will be held at 2 o'clock. If weather prevents them from being held at the cemetery, they will be conducted in the GAR post room on East Middle street.

The opening prayer will be by the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, and Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be delivered by P. J. Kammerer, Lincoln impersonator from Newville.

A wreath will be placed on the grave of an unknown soldier by Harry E. Koch, commander of the SUV camp. Doctor Gresh will pronounce the benediction.

Saturday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg the annual Lincoln anniversary banquet of the Past Presidents' and Past Commanders' association of the Sons of Veterans will be held.

ONE COMMAND IS ADVOCATED BY EISENHOWER

Washington Nov. 16 (AP)—General

Eisenhower said today that unless the armed services are placed under a unified command "we may enter another emergency, in a time to come, as we did at Pearl Harbor."

The European theater commander told the Senate Military Committee in prepared testimony that "this nation must preserve a balanced, adequate measure of our land, sea and air power lest we lose the peace we have so dearly bought."

In World War II, he said, the United States had to achieve the change from joint to unified command "the hard way." He added: "I know that our efforts would have met with failure without unity of direction. No system of joint command could possibly have brought victory to our cause."

While Eisenhower testified, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific Fleet, was in Washington for a naval conference. His presence led to speculation the navy—bitterly opposed to merging the armed forces—might try to counter the general of the army's testimony with that of the fleet admiral.

May Hear Nimitz

The navy made no announcement and committee members said only that they would be glad to hear Nimitz if he wished to be a witness.

Eisenhower said unity of land, sea and air forces under his command "was not easily achieved." He added that he thought the "difficulties grew directly from the traditional separation of the army and navy which is the inevitable outcome of the present organization of our military departments."

"Separation at the top necessarily fosters separation all along the line."

Replying to what he said were criticisms of the unification proposal Eisenhower went on:

"I am told that the task of the civilian secretary, who would preside over such a department, is beyond the capacity of any man. If this were true, then it follows that no man has the capacity to assume the Presidency of the United States."

As to statements that creation of a single department would subordinate one service to another, he commented that the result in Africa and Europe "proved such fears to be groundless."

Cites 9 Points

To arguments that Germany had a single military department and yet lost the war Eisenhower replied: "The facts are that Germany never had such a single department or even unity of direction except in the Fuehrer himself."

Eisenhower summarized his arguments for unification in nine points:

1. "It is essential in order that there may be a well-rounded military program which insures for us the maximum protection for each dollar appropriated.

2. "It is not feasible to arrive at the size or composition of each arm without simultaneously considering the others, x x x

3. "The national security is safeguarded only if the security establishment is fashioned, trained and administered under single direction x x x

4. "The era of atomic weapons, pilotless missiles makes unity of concept, indoctrination and training more necessary than ever.

5. "x x x only through a single department can coordinated development of new weapons be assured.

6. "There is the absolute need for economy in administration if we are, as a nation, to afford an adequate security establishment, x x x

Need Teamwork

7. "If we do not integrate the executive management of the three members of our fighting team, our postwar security establishment will become the patchwork improvisation that is inevitable where independent departments, at different times, compete before separate Congressional committees.

8. "One of the most important and least understood factors in modern war is that it is essentially a matter of perfected teamwork, x x x by unification at the top we emphasize to our soldiers, sailors and airmen the essential truth that each wears the uniform of the nation's fighting forces and that his natural friends and trusted associates are the others who wear that uniform, regardless of its color or design.

9. "Finally, there is no such thing as a separate land, sea or air war; therefore we must now recognize this fact by establishing a single Department of the Armed Forces."

Abbottstown Sailor To Arrive Nov. 18

Aboard the Amphibious Attack Transport USS Noble in the Pacific (Special)—Wilmer Dale Rodgers, water tender, third class, Abbottstown, Pa., will be back in the states about November 18 with other navy men serving aboard this ship, with a happy "cargo" of 2,000 officers and men who are among the "high pointers" of the Pacific war.

Assigned to the "Magic Carpet" fleet of some 250 ships, the Noble picked up its initial load of veterans at Tsingtao—a group of bluejackets and marines, and embarked October 28, for Okinawa, where she was fitted to capacity with other veterans, utilizing every foot of space for extra cots for the homecoming.

Crewmen of the Noble are generally agreed that their postwar assignments have been even more exciting and interesting than the war operations. In September, the ship carried the first American occupation troops to Jinsen, Korea, then took aboard evacuated prisoners of war for treatment and transfer to the Philippines.

JURY ACQUITS

told the police he had cocked the gun and pulled the trigger because he was "angry and afraid." On Thursday Burke denied he was angry at his father at the time but was "scared" he would be shot if he gave up his grip on the gun.

Cites Attacks

The boy also told of instances in which his father had flung a knife, stones, a brick, sticks of wood and "almost anything" at Burke in fits of rage.

The defense rested its case at 2:20 p. m. and Mr. Yake announced he had no rebuttal testimony.

In his 30-minute plea to the jury, Mr. Butt declared the boy had been "kicked around" by his father for a long period of time and contended the youth was only trying to take the gun to keep his father from harming him when the gun discharged accidentally. "The boy had a right to attempt to protect himself from his father," he added.

The district attorney used another 30 minutes in his plea for conviction of the boy whom he pictured as "disobedient" and often the aggressor in the tussles with his father. He declared the defendant was guilty of murder or manslaughter and asked the jury to let the facts of the case determine the degree of seriousness of the boy's crime.

The court's charge required 40 minutes and included a careful description of each crime listed by the court in the three possible convictions—if the jury should reject the theory of accidental death or self-defense and the court also described the tests the jury should apply in weighing the testimony.

Possible Verdicts

For a verdict of first degree murder, the Commonwealth has to prove a premeditated, deliberate killing; if malice is proved in an intentional killing, a second degree murder verdict would be justified and if the killing was without malice but under the immediate influence of a sudden passion such as anger, rage, sudden resentment or terror, it would be manslaughter, the court said. Excusable homicides also were defined.

The jury went out to begin deliberation at 4:15 o'clock. They were quartered in the law library at the rear of the second floor of the county building. The jurors remained in the charge of tipstaves who had been with them constantly from the time the jury was selected Wednesday morning.

Six stenographic records of the trial were made by Mrs. Paul W. Little.

The acquittal of Burke Scott kept the "batting average" of John P. Butt, Esq., at 1,000 as far as murder cases are concerned. As district attorney he prosecuted two murder cases and won both of them—one a first degree murder case in which the defendant, Philip Hartman, paid the death penalty and the other a conviction for manslaughter in which the defendant drew a penitentiary term.

The Scott case was Mr. Butt's first murder case as defense counsel.

COUNTY TEAMS IN FINAL 1945 GRID CONTESTS

Two Adams county scholastic football teams will bring their gridiron campaigns to a conclusion this week-end.

On Saturday afternoon the Biglerville Cannons meet Camp Hill in a Lower Susquehanna conference game at Camp Hill and Sunday afternoon Delone Catholic meets Harrisburg Catholic at McSherrystown.

Coach "Hen" Bream's Cannons will be meeting a stiff opponent in Camp Hill. The Camp Hill outfit occupies fourth place in the conference standing, one rung ahead of Biglerville.

Camp Hill played seven conference games, winning four, losing one and tying two. Coach Bream's charges sport a record of five victories, one defeat and one tie.

Playing their final game for Biglerville will be Dave Pitzer, Utz, Bucher, Sandoe, all backs, Walters, Miller, Brough, Rice and VanDyke, linemen. From the reserve list McCarthy will also graduate.

The Delone-Harrisburg Catholic mixup promises to be a hotly fought contest. The same teams met in Harrisburg on September 14 when Harrisburg won 14-6. To date Delone has won four games and lost five and the Squires are hoping to close their season with a victory to give them an even break this year.

PENN TOUGHEST FOE FOR MULES ASSERTS BLAIK

By LEE LINDER

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Army mule unleashes its terrific pigskin kick tomorrow against the University of Pennsylvania's "Bunch of Kids," hoping to notch victory No. 17 in a consecutive win string that was started just two years ago. The betting fraternity rate the Cadets—heralded as the nation's top collegiate football eleven—five touchdowns better than the Quakers, but if one heeds the pessimism of Army Coach Earl Blaik he might think twice before backing the West Pointers.

"Penn is the toughest assignment Army has had to face in two years," Blaik says.

Not Afraid, Munger

Quaker mentor George Munger laughs, however, and muses that the Penns don't expect to win "but we're not afraid of Army."

Approximately 73,000 spectators, who will jam-pack Franklin field meantime, hope Munger is talking through his hat—and that once-beaten Penn may pull the upset of the football season.

Besides Penn, eight other Keystone state college elevens gallop into action tomorrow as the closing weeks of the 1945 pigskin parade approach. Thirteen schools, already have completed their schedules.

Other Tilt

The Owls of Temple university hope to salvage a bowl bid by busting the perfect season dreams of the Holy Cross Crusaders at Worcester Mass. The Templeans were knocked from their unbeaten perch a week ago by Penn State's bowl hungry Nittany Lions who met Michigan State at Lansing, Mich.

Pittsburgh's Panthers seek to break a five-game losing streak at the expense of an invading eleven; Lafayette hopes to win its first game this year against Atlantic City Naval Air Station at Easton; Drexel Tech, losers of four straight, entertains Lehigh; Scranton invades Boston college and Swarthmore plays host to Johns Hopkins in other games.

New York Bettors
Lose $48,500,000

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—It cost the horse players of New York $48,500,000, plus a few loose thousands, to go on the fanciest betting spree in all racing history this year.

A total of 4,622,927 two-buck-and-up bettors tossed an all-time high of $450,663,190 into the mutual machines during the 154-day season which wound up yesterday. In return, the iron men gave them back some $402,099,801.80.

Breaking the records down to simple figures, it turns out the average daily attendance for the campaign was 30,019 and that $2,926,384 was the sum served to the mutuels every day.

Kirkwood Leads In Azalea Open Meet

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 16 (AP)—Veteran Joe Kirkwood started out today on the second round of the inaugural $10,000 Azalea open golf tournament with a slender one-stroke lead, after breezing around the tricky Mobile country club layout in a four-under-par 68.

Right behind the Philadelphia linksman with 60s carded in yesterday's opening round were three consistently good fellow pros who appear to be rounding into top form this fourth stop on the PGA winter circuit—Beltn Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., Sam Byrd of Detroit and the Veteran Denny Shute of Akron, O.

Sports
Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—How far major league baseball has gone or will go with Commissioner Happy Chandler's plan to spend $50,000 a year for kid baseball remains to be seen but Ray Dumont, who has spent more than a half million dollars in the last five years on sandlot ball has a few pertinent suggestions to offer. . . . Of course, many of Ray's "sandlot" teams would shudder at the sight of sand on their smooth, green diamonds and a lot of that dough served to boost the national semi-pro tournament, but the profits each year have gone right back where they help baseball.

In round numbers, here's what Dumont put out last year: Printing and distribution of circulars featuring promotional material, $65,000; free distribution of guides, $25,000; free rule books, $5,000; publicity and advertising, $10,000; payments to teams in national tournament, $30,000.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Dumont's theory is that field men, preferably diamond stars, are needed to do the job. "If they simply print up circulars and start lecture tours, that isn't enough. The men should be out the entire year. In the fall they should be doing organization work, contacting factories' executives and schools explaining why and how they should have teams. Later they should assist in organizing leagues and in the summer they would conduct district and state-wide schools."

COMEBACK

When Al Wesson, former Southern California and St. Mary's Pre-flight publicity shucked his navy gold braid to beat the drums for Hollywood Park, some of the west coast scribes ribbed him about getting more publicity for himself than for the gee-gees. . . . Replied Al: "If they have sense enough not to bet on people, let them write their own stuff."

Buffalo Pushing
Bears' Lead On Ice

(By The Associated Press)

Buffalo is the hottest team in the American hockey league today with six straight victories and eight decisions in its last nine games.

Only two points back of Hershey in the race for the eastern division lead, the Bisons skated to their third triumph of the week and their second in as many nights by thumping New Haven, 3-1, last night on enemy ice.

The Eagles, who have won only two of 14 starts, had tied the game on a freak goal by Norm Larson at 3:25 of the third period. Larson was tripped by Frank Eddols and gave the puck a tap into the cage as he fell.

There will be no league action tonight but Saturday Pittsburgh will be at Cleveland and Indianapolis at Hershey.

ARMY SELECTED TO BEAT PENN
RATHER EASILY

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Crawling out on the football limb for another batch of predictions.

Army-Penn: Army Coach Red Blaik fears Penn but he is the only one at West Point who does. The Cadets' confidence may be their undoing but this corner sees them winning by a comfortable three touchdown margin. Army.

St. Mary's-UCLA: Each started the season with an outstanding back—Herman Wedemeyer at St. Mary's and Carl Rossi at UCLA. Wedemeyer still is with the Gais but the navy transferred Rossi to Harvard. St. Mary's.

Purdue-Michigan: The Wolverines bow only to previously unbeaten teams and Purdue was spilt by Northwestern. Michigan.

Wisconsin-Navy: The revamped Middle backfield, which last week romped over Michigan, is set for another carnival. Navy.

Holy Cross Favored

Temple-Holy Cross: Temple's bowl chances went glimmering last Saturday in its loss to Penn State and the club is out for revenge against another bowl candidate. But no luck. Holy Cross.

Notre Dame-Northwestern: The Irish return to teams of their own class and are favored despite the rapid improvement of the young Wildcats. Notre Dame.

ARMY SELECTED TO BEAT PENN RATHER EASILY

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Crawling out on the football limb for another batch of predictions.

Army-Penn: Army Coach Red Blaik fears Penn but he is the only one at West Point who does. The Cadets' confidence may be their undoing but this corner sees them winning by a comfortable three touchdown margin. Army.

St. Mary's-UCLA: Each started the season with an outstanding back—Herman Wedemeyer at St. Mary's and Carl Rossi at UCLA. Wedemeyer still is with the Gais but the navy transferred Rossi to Harvard. St. Mary's.

Purdue-Michigan: The Wolverines bow only to previously unbeaten teams and Purdue was spilt by Northwestern. Michigan.

Wisconsin-Navy: The revamped Middle backfield, which last week romped over Michigan, is set for another carnival. Navy.

Holy Cross Favored

Temple-Holy Cross: Temple's bowl chances went glimmering last Saturday in its loss to Penn State and the club is out for revenge against another bowl candidate. But no luck. Holy Cross.

Notre Dame-Northwestern: The Irish return to teams of their own class and are favored despite the rapid improvement of the young Wildcats. Notre Dame.

Auburn-Georgia: Charlie Trippi to get moving in this one. Georgia.

Columbia-Princeton: Princeton's Navy-laden club gets stronger each week but Columbia has been strong all year. Columbia.

Indiana-Pittsburgh: Pitt has collected but two touchdowns since early October and won't break the famine to any great extent at this time. Indiana.

Finishing the rest in a hurry:

Weiss Named New Front Office Man

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—George Weiss is the new front man in the New York Yankee show window after years of behind-the-scenes manipulation of one of baseball's greatest player empires.

Appointment of Weiss to handle all player operations of the parent club and its farm units was part of a general streamlining program announced yesterday by President Larry MacPhail. He disclosed contracts had been signed for lights at the Yankee stadium, assuring night baseball and probably night football in 1946.

The seating capacity of the stadium will be increased to 90,000 for football and possibly more for fights. New boxes will be installed, a women's lounge will be built on the main floor and a new press box will be constructed.

SCHOOL GRIDDERS IN FINAL TILTS

Harrisburg, Nov. 16 (AP)—Pennsylvania's scholastic football season swings into its final week-end with one conference crown up for decision and three more major titles still in doubt.

Two unbeaten elevens clash for the WPAL title with Donora, last year's champion and winner of 18 straight games, facing New Kensington tomorrow afternoon at the St. Vincent's college stadium, Latrobe.

Huntingdon can virtually clinch the western conference trophy by beating Hollidaysburg.

The big fifteen title will not be decided until Thanksgiving Day, when Allentown and Bethlehem, both unbeaten in conference competition, clash at Bethlehem. At present Bethlehem leads the race, with Williamsport second, and Allentown third.

Hoskins said about 60 locals of the AFL General Drivers Union called the walkout for last midnight after a meeting in Chicago. Spokesmen for trucking firms in Chicago said the Walkout was planned for midnight tonight.

Involves Back Pay

Hoskins said there had been no discussions between the union and the operators, the unions refusing to meet to negotiate any differences. In Omaha a union leader said the stoppage involved back pay which was ordered paid by the War Labor Board in 1943.

The government seized control of midwest lines after a previous stoppage but as each firm was released the union petitioned for strike votes. Elsewhere along the country's labor front disputes kept idle some 275,800 workers. Attention remained centered on Detroit and the wage controversy between the CIO United Automobile Workers and the motor industry's "big three."

A new proposal by General Motors to the union's demands for a 30 per cent wage rate hike was a 10 per cent increase above current levels for all hourly-rated employees. The offer was rejected by the union as a "streamlined approach to inflation."

Attacks Company

A union leader charged Chrysler corporation with being "hell bent towards destroying genuine collective bargaining relations," after the company requested the right to discharge or discipline workers taking part in unauthorized strikes.

The union termed as a "union-busting and strife-provoking document" a Ford Motor company statement demanding no-strike guarantees and increased productivity by union workers.

Employees at all three companies have approved work stoppages but wage negotiations were continued today by the union with General Motors and Chrysler.

Six passenger ships of the Alaska Steamship company were idle in Seattle and delivery of food supplies and Thanksgiving turkeys to armed forces in the Kodiak area was threatened, said naval officials at Kodiak. The company and the CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards Association remained deadlocked in a dispute over the use of passenger dining rooms for crew meetings at sea and overtime issues.

The tieup, a company official said, halted the movement of more than 1,700 troops.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA, AND THEREABOUT

One of the most fascinating and interesting areas of ground in all the North American continent is to be found upon the Gulf of Mexico, reaching northward from the Mississippi delta and spreading east and west, comprising the great city of New Orleans, the state of Louisiana and the territory thereabout.

It has taken volumes, and it will take many more, to adequately tell the complete story of this unique land and its people. Spain, France, England and a host of dreamy adventurers have left their impress upon the thoughts, customs and achievements that face the visitor today as he looks for the first time upon this romantic and adventurous country.

Many times I have happily visited these parts, but how sorry I am that I could not have first visited Harnett T. Kane, and travelled with him in his four books that have made this country so alive to us all. Each one of them fairly drips with fragrant historic lore. From his first book, "Louisiana Hayride," the story of Huey Long, through his others, "The Bayous of Louisiana," "Deep Delta Country," and his recent one, "Plantation Parade," you get a picture that makes you want to get out the old car at once or get a rapid railroad ticket and see it all for yourself.

It has been a long time since I have read such an absorbing series of books about one section of any country. Harnett Kane is a native of this section, and a super-reporter graduate of the greatest university that I know about—the Daily Newspaper.

To this country west and northward from New Orleans came the Acadians, and nearby is one of the greatest bird sanctuaries and flower gardens in all America, at Avery Island. "Along the Great Sea of the Mississippi, and at the edges of the bayous, an empire unfolded during the 18th and 19th centuries," and "here were the witty, urbane Creoles who made this a corner of France." I can think of no better preparation for a visit to this part of the world than to read one of Harnett Kane's books.

And I might add right here that it is about time that Americans discovered their own North American continent, including the delightful summer vacation land of our good neighbor—Canada.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Happy Outlook."

The special Series "E" Victory Bond commemorating President Roosevelt is a tribute to a commander-in-chief who gave his life for his country. The bond costs $150.00 and returns $200.00 at the end of ten years.

CHIANG WILL FLY SOLDIERS TO MANCHURIA

By SPENCER DAVIS

Peiping, Nov. 16 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist troops will begin a mass movement "quite soon" into Manchuria in air transports turned over to China by America, a spokesman at Chiang's field headquarters said today.

Their destination will be the main airfield at Changchun, capital of Manchuria, which unconfirmed reports say is in the hands of Chinese Communists following a withdrawal of the Russians.

(An official Chinese government dispatch received at Chungking yesterday said Russians had yielded control of Changchun's postal and telegraph facilities to a handful of Chinese government authorities, and indicated that the Russians have not yet completed their planned withdrawal.)

Chiang's men are opposed in a ground movement toward Manchuria by Chinese Communists and the presence of the Communists in two Manchurian ports evacuated by the Russians recently caused ships of the U. S. Seventh Fleet to pull away without putting ashore the Nationalists on board.

Conflict Is Serious
American air crew ferrying unmarked C-45 transports here from Kunming protested to commanding officers of the 10th Air Force, that flying without the U. S. insignia increased the hazards of being shot if forced down or flying low.

The generalissimo's spokesman said that conflict with Chinese Communist forces throughout North China is becoming "more and more serious." He voiced a need for more Nationalist troops.

The 92nd Army is in Peiping, the 94th in Tientsin and the 13th at Chingwangtao pending landings in Manchuria.

A full scale war of nerves is in progress throughout the country.

In Chungking, a Communist spokesman took heated exception to a statement made at Santa Fe, N. M., Tuesday by U. S. Ambassador Patrick Hurley. Hurley said the Communists sought Japanese arms "to set up a separate government in China or destroy the government of the Republic of China."

The Chungking Communist spokesman said Hurley's comment served "no other purpose than to spread and prolong civil war."

NEW PROPOSALS ON BARGAINING

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—Industry delegates to President Truman's Labor-Management conference promised to make known today their stand on the collective bargaining issue.

Indications were it might take the form of a counter proposal or amendment to a request by CIO President Philip Murray that the conference approve bargaining within the framework of the administration's broad wage-price policy; raise wages generally without increasing prices.

Ira Mosher, president of the National association of Manufacturers, told newsmen management's "100 per cent" view would be presented to the conference executive committee at its closed meeting today (noon).

Presidents William Green of the AFL and John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers have objected to the CIO resolution if it can be construed as holding collective bargaining within the boundaries of the administration wage-price policy.

Green told reporters no Labor representative could object to the idea of endorsing collective bargaining on wages as a principle.

SCIENTISTS AND MEDICAL MEN IN PARLEY ON ATOM

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP) Science Editor

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (AP)—The first postwar conference of scientists and medical men on the atomic bomb began here today under the joint sponsorship of the American Philosophical Society and the National Academy of Sciences.

Significantly the academy's executive council last night voted "unanimous approval of the published text of the declaration on atomic energy" issued jointly by President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain and MacKenzie King of Canada.

Meantime, it was disclosed that four of America's great cancer research institutions worked on atomic bomb byproducts that produce more rays than all the radium now in man's possession.

Spur Cancer Research

Cancer is one of the diseases for which scientists hope to find new methods of treatment in the X-rays. Neutron rays and other radiations produced in the big Hanford, Washington, "piles" which make the new metal plutonium.

Dr. Robert S. Stone of the University of California told of some new problems in medicine which had to be solved in making plutonium. Workers had to be protected against the various dangerous rays. Gases that were charged with these same rays had to be dispersed so that they were not dangerous to human beings over wide areas, or to birds, animals or fish. For some of these purposes better methods of diagnosis and detection were developed.

These safeguards were worked out, Dr. Stone said, at the Hanford plant, at the Clinton Engineer works at Oak Ridge, Tenn., at four scientific institutions—the National Cancer Institute at Washington, D. C., and Bethesda, Md., Memorial Hospital, New York, Michael Reese hospital, Chicago, and at the University of Chicago laboratories where study of the effects of neutron rays on cancer treatment first started.

Steel Company Gives CIO Answer

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16 (AP)—A 16-page booklet was issued by the National Steel Corp. today in which corporation Chairman E. T. Weir asserted that CIO—United Steelworkers' statements, supporting a demand for a $2 a day wage increase, had presented "a highly misleading picture."

Weir quoted the USWA as arguing "that the war-year profits of the steel industry were unreasonable," and then gave figures for National Steel Corp.

"Total net income, after taxes and all other charges, was $60,723,474 in the five-year period, 1935-39, and was $66,548,289 in the period, 1940-1944. This was an increase of 9.6 per cent. This increase was very small compared with the enormous increase in the volume of sales."

Facts About Easter Lilies

The beautiful and stately Easter lily, sold by florists at Christmas and Easter, is listed in bulb and nursery catalogues as Lilium longiflorum giganteum. Growers need not be unduly frightened by this ponderous botanical name. It is mainly their guarantee when buying bulbs that they are getting the particular species and strain desired.

Of course, this lily is usually grown in greenhouses. But it can be forced under ordinary home conditions where it is possible to grow other indoor bulbous flowers successfully, such as daffodils, narcissi, hyacinths and tulips. In fact, cultural methods required are little different from those advised for these so-called Dutch bulbs.

Perhaps the most difficult matter for beginners to settle in growing Easter lilies is indicated by the most common question asked—When should bulbs be potted to produce blooms at a definite future date?

Based on maximum growing conditions, slightly more than 18 weeks should be computed from the time bulbs are potted until the first bloom stage. If temperatures and humidity and other local factors are not fully suitable for the purpose, 20 to 21 weeks should be allowed.

This somewhat long period is roughly divided as follows: Seven weeks for the development of roots; 11 to 14 weeks for forcing top growth. Many successful growers allow eight to 8½ or even nine weeks for root development and the remainder of the time for top growth. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the importance of forcing the growth of a pot full of roots before pots are brought out of dark storage to promote top growth. In this respect Easter lilies are no different than other indoor bulbs. Inspection after a storage of seven weeks is advisable to determine the proper stage for top forcing.

After roots are numerous and vigorous the pot should be brought into a room where the light is subdued and the temperature remains uniformly around 45 to 50 degrees at night and slightly higher in the daytime. In about 10 days the temperature should be brought up at least ten additional degrees to hasten top growth. Of course watering stimulates this action. Bright light and direct sunshine should be shunned until the tops are vigorous, although light should be increased gradually after growth is well under way.

There are two main ways to hasten or delay blooming. First and best is to leave the pots in dark storage until approximately 12 weeks before blooms are wanted. The other is to keep the room cooler or to raise the temperature during the first three or four weeks of the top-growing stage.

Seldom is it advisable to carry old bulbs over to a second year. It is, however, wise to keep the old bulbs for experimentation and for whatever blooms they are capable of producing. But the finest and most desirable flowers come from new bulbs purchased each fall before potting time.

Readers who have never tried to grow this beautiful indoor ornamental or who have encountered trouble in their first attempts are invited to write the editor to ask all the

DUTCH REQUEST CONFAB TO END STRIKE IN JAVA

By LEIF ERICKSON
Batavia, Nov. 16 (AP)—Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, called upon the new Indonesian Nationalist cabinet tonight to meet him in an informal discussion at the earliest possible moment, in an effort to save Indonesia from further bloodshed and threatened famine.

Van Mook made his statement at a press conference at a time when Indonesian resistance was officially reported to be slackening at battered Soerabaja before the assault of tanks, guns and planes of the slowly advancing British Indian troops.

The acting governor general expressed disappointment that the Indonesians had been unable to attend a meeting last night under the chairmanship of Lt. Gen. Sir Philip Christison Allied commander in the NZI, and said it was imperative in the interest of Indonesia as a whole that both sides cooperate to keep order and prevent the economic ruin of Java.

Resistance Decreases
An official British summary today said there was "nothing to report" on the situation at Soerabaja. A summary of yesterday's fighting said the resistance of the 15,000 Indonesians in Soerabaja "decreased" as the Indian troops expanded the area under their control. Indonesian sniping and sporadic mortar fire continued.

(The Hilversum radio quoted a dispatch of the Dutch news agency Aneta as saying 3,000 British-Indian troops landed on Sumatra without Indonesian opposition and began rounding up Japanese at Padang and Palembang. The dispatch said "it is hoped a second Java will be prevented.")

(In Amsterdam the newspaper Algemeen Handelsblad reported that W. P. L. Van Bylandt had left for Indonesia on orders of the Dutch government to serve as diplomatic and political adviser to the Netherlands East Indies acting governor general Hubertus J. Van Mook. At the Hague high government officials denied reports that Prince Bernhard would go to the Indies for negotiations on behalf of the crown.)

DEFENDS WORK AS RECEIVER

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16 (AP)—John D. Dickson of Wellsville, N. Y., answering a petition seeking his removal as receiver for the Pittsburgh, Shawmut and Northern Railroad company, told Federal Judge Guy D. Bard he had constantly endeavored to keep all known interests in the receivership informed as to the results of his operations of the properties.

Dickson declared he devoted two years to working out a reorganization plan which failed because no one would provide financial backing for it.

Dickson asked Judge Bard to remand the case to the New York supreme court. He said every legal proceeding affecting the Shawmut holdings in receivership had been instituted in New York.

Hearings on the petition for Dickson's removal will open before Judge Bard November 27. The petitioner, Albert Schlager, of New York, a bondholder, was given until November 22 to file exceptions to a report given to the court last week by Dickson covering 40 years of receivership. His report showed the company had a deficit of $30,000,000. The investigation of the Shawmut properties started after 40 Shawmut Mining company employees struck last July at Force, Hollywood and Byrnedale because of what they and a company doctor who quit her post called "intolerable" sanitary conditions.

In 1929, the coast to coast air fare was cut from $400 to $259.50.

To Erect $3,000,000 Plant At Tyrone

Tyrone, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—Plans for erection of a $3,000,000 plant here by the Corning Glass company, of Corning, N. Y., were announced today by the Tyrone Postwar Planning Commission.

The commission said the factory, to be built on the Tyrone Athletic Park site, would make silica products and utilize native limestone, pottery clay and glass sand. It would give employment to 1,000 persons.

A spokesman said the Ferguson Engineering company of Cleveland already has workers on the site, preparing plans for the factory.

BRITISH HALT IMMIGRATION; RIOTS FLARE

Jerusalem, Nov. 16 (AP)—British authorities took new precautions to halt illegal immigration into Palestine today as Zionist leaders deplored a two-day reign of violence in Tel Aviv estimated to have caused more than 100 casualties and $800,000 property damage.

With quiet at last reported restored to the troubled city, Isaac Ben-Tsevi, chairman of the Jewish National Council, issued a statement attributing the riots to "irresponsible youths" and declaring they were "highly detrimental to the Jewish cause."

He added that Jewish leaders had urged self-discipline and non-violence.

Jews Condemn Violence
At the same time the pro-Zionist Palestine Post declared editorially that all responsible Jews strongly disapproved the outbreaks in Tel Aviv. Describing the rioting as "a shoddy episode," the Post said:

"There is no Jew worthy of the name but will dissociate himself from Fascist terrorism which swoops and strikes where the victims are few and defenseless."

"That British firms should have been singled out for destruction and plunder is a stain which every Jew of decent feeling will long carry in shame."

Dispatches from Tel Aviv declared the city was quiet last night as British armored cars and troops of the reinforced British Sixth Airborne Division patrolled the streets enforcing a strict curfew. Maj. Gen. E. I. Bols commander of the Sixth, said the curfew probably would be lifted today.

Several hundred persons were reported arrested, however, before the termination of the disturbances, which were variously estimated to have caused three to five deaths and resulted in injuries to approximately 100. The dead were all Jews.

"FLEEING" OF VETERANS IS CONFIRMED

Indiantown Gap, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—Reports of wholesale "fleeing" of hundreds of newly discharged veterans by thieves and swindlers in nearby Harrisburg and Lebanon today had army confirmation.

"We know many discharged men have been robbed or swindled," said Brig. Gen. Malcolm F. Lindsey, commander of the military reservation here, in a statement yesterday citing the numerous complaints received from veterans who have lost large sums of money while en route home.

He thanked Governor Martin and Mayor Howard Milliken of Harrisburg for their announced efforts to protect the discharges with extra details of state and local police.

Gen. Lindsey said 30 military policemen are on duty daily at Harrisburg, but in spite of these MPs and repeated warnings at the separation center, "many of the men cash their mustering out checks and of course we have no control over that."

"While these men strictly speaking are civilians when they leave Indiantown Gap and are outside our jurisdiction," he declared, "we retain a great interest in their welfare and their return home."

The general said every effort has

U. S. OFFICER'S TRAIN IS FIRED UPON IN CHINA

Shanghai, Nov. 16 (AP)—The U. S. China theater headquarters reported today that a train bearing Maj. Gen. DeWitt Peck, First Marine Division commander, was under fire from a Communist-occupied North China village yesterday.

General Peck, uninjured, requested that U. S. planes strafe the village if the firing continued, headquarters disclosed.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commanding U. S. forces in China, in a careful reply authorized "appropriate military action," but only after "considerable" warning to the village and adequate precautions to avoid endangering innocent persons.

EAT HERRING BREAD

Berlin, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Berlin press published this recipe today as one of a series of helpful hints to harrassed hausfrauen:

"Herring-flavored bread: Take herring head, remove eyes; boil head with bones, strain off liquid and mix with flour, adding salt and vinegar to taste. This should be served with onion rings or chopped turnip to get the full effect."

ceived by Wedemeyer from Maj. Gen. Keller Rockey, commander of the Third Amphibious Corps. Rockey's message said the train was en route from Tangshan to the coal port of Chinwangtao, and that the small-arms fire was coming from a village 600 yards north of Lwanhsien.

Rockey instructed Peck to send an emissary to the village to inform the Communist leader that "if firing continues I will order an air strafing mission against the village."

Rockey's message also reported that 300 yards of track and roadbed of the railway had been destroyed by mines, causing several casualties among Chinese workers. No American casualties were reported.

MARTIN FIRM ON SESSION

Harrisburg, Nov. 16 (AP)—Governor Martin's position that a special session of the Legislature is unnecessary, remained unchanged today in the face of a renewed demand that he bring the legislators together in the veterans' behalf.

John H. Dent, Democratic minority leader of the state Senate, revived the issue in a statement declaring:

"A special session is so imperative at this time that no reasonable alibi can be given by Governor Martin for not calling the Legislature into session. We can not face our present problems in 1947, they must be attended to now, in 1945."

Martin told his news conference, in reply to a question, that he had not seen Dent's statement. He stated, however, that his speech to the U. S. Governors' conference at Mackinac, Mich., last July, in which he reviewed the state's legislative and administrative efforts in behalf of veterans, "has been used by many states as its directive on returning veterans."

Dent declared "the least Pennsylvania administration could do would be to copy the West Virginia Council of Civilian Defense and publish a veterans' guide and directory in booklet form to be given to every Pennsylvania veteran at the time of his discharge for his convenience and guidance."

"Pennsylvania veterans by increasing numbers are complaining about job discrimination in many industries," Dent said he had evidence of a private employment agency "gouging" a veteran, and said information about jobs "should be at the veterans' disposal."

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, David Harman, departed this life 6 months ago.

One sad and lonely six months have passed.

Since my great sorrow fell
The shock that I received that day
I still remember well
God knows how much I miss him
Never shall his memory fade
Loving thought shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.
By His Wife, Lillie.

Chapter 4

(Sunday 1:18 a. m. to 1:50 a. m.)

Some one pulled the table out and the doctor knelt by Jerry. The boy's head was almost at Julia's feet. She still sat on the bench as if she could not move.

"He'll be all right. Where's a bed?" said Doctor Wandell.

Moore pushed through the circle and picked up Jerry without a word and carried him out, followed by the doctor.

"Everybody have a drink," ordered Robey. "Drink it to Jerry. He's a great kid."

He slipped quickly and naturally from the Possessive Husband to the Kind Friend. The hostility that had been rising died. Robey had regained his hold even after such a bad misstep. He went out the door, his coarse hair tousled, and Julia thought that he swayed a little as he walked. Frank glanced over the room, winked at Julia sympathetically, and followed his host.

Julia was startled by Alma Pratt speaking. The young woman was standing like a Dutch doll on the other side of the table facing Julia.

"He loved me once," she said in a sweet, husky voice that carried a poignant beauty. In the instant of silence that followed Julia felt that the others, like herself, were stirred by that remarkable voice.

"It was all your publicity that got him stuck—like a greedy fly in honey," Grace said crossly. She was a vivid contrast to the blue and blonde girl.

Alma turned to her slowly, mechanically, and again there was an impression that a doll moved. Without a word she picked a glass from the table and dashed the contents into the face of the woman who had succeeded her in Robey's life. The action seemed to break her tension.

"I can't sing any more," she sobbed out as if this explained everything. Then she half ran from the room.

Ike tossed Grace a towel and Virginia said, "A few showers like that might make you more civil, my dear."

"I'll go see about her," Julia told them.

The dining room was dark except for the iridescent column of glass by which the dining table was held suspended from the ceiling and the light from the glass coals in the fireplace. The table was laid for supper but no one had touched the food.

Both the door to the library and the one to Robey's bedroom were closed. She opened the door to the library and saw Frank and Robey standing by the small white fireplace that curved out into the room.

"You shouldn't have done that," Frank was saying in his measured monotone.

"Did Miss Pratt come in here?" "I haven't seen her." Robey seemed to be in a good humor in spite of Frank's protest.

"She can't be far," Frank offered. "She's upset about something," she explained and went back through the foyer to Robey's bedroom door. A quiet "Come in" answered her knock.

Dr. Wandell sat by the wide bed on which Jerry was sprawled. Freckles showed on Jerry's pale face and made him look like a small boy.

"How is Jerry?" "He's coming around all right."

Jerry didn't open his eyes. She said she was looking for Alma and went away.

Grace and Robey were standing facing the window from which she had watched Robey that afternoon. Neither of the two saw her as she walked through to her own bedroom. She half expected to see Alma on her bed but no one was there. Rather wearily she looked in the dressing room and bathroom. They were empty.

She sat down at the wide dressing table and applied a lipstick with practiced fingers. She did not know how long she sat there. She heard someone walk on the glass border of the floor in the salon. She started for the door when a frantic, agonized scream held her paralyzed. It was Grace.

Something horrible had happened! This was what she had feared and now it was true. She forced herself to open the door. Everyone was near the window and the curtains were pulled wide. Most of them turned toward her. Their faces looked blurred and secret in the colored light. Grace was having hysterics. Someone moaned.

"He—he fell," Steinway stammered and it seemed very queer that the columnist should be excited.

She walked to the window and leaning over, looked below. There was a crowd around something down there. Some of them had their faces turned upward and others were staring at an object on the pavement.

"Who is it?" She asked clearly and her voice sounded composed, almost tired.

"It's Robey, my dear," said Frank. To be continued that Mr. Roosevelt and the then Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, did not believe the impending "peace" conferences would alter the tense diplomatic situation.

The peace conferences were shortly to begin with Nomura and special envoy Saburo Kuroki representing the Japanese government.

In a message that was decoded and translated by U. S. Army intelligence two days after it was sent, Nomura said that on November 9 a cabinet member had talked to him. Without naming him, the Japanese ambassador quoted the cabinet official as follows:

No Faith In Sessions
"You are indeed a dear friend of mine and I tell this to you alone. The American government is receiving a number of reliable reports that Japan will be on the move soon. The American government does not believe that your visit on Monday to the President or the coming of Mr. Kuroki will have any effect on the general situation."

When Nomura protested that neither the Japanese government nor its people desired a war with the United States, the cabinet member was quoted as replying:

"Well, our boss, the President, believes those reports and so does the Secretary of State."

The Nomura message, sent after the ambassador had been advised by Tokyo that November 25 was the deadline for concluding negotiations with the United States, was one of a series made public by the congressional investigating committee.

The committee opened its formal hearings yesterday with testimony of army and navy witnesses on the actual attack made by the Japanese at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. Today the committee was promised by Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.) a review of the Japanese version of the attack. This was to be furnished by the army and navy witnesses, Rear Adm. T. B. Inglis and Col. Bernard Thielens, from captured Japanese documents.

Shipping Rerouted
First, however, the committee planned to finish its cross-examination of the two on the initial phase of their testimony.

Before a crowd jammed into every corner of the committee room, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) drove yesterday at the point that Adm. Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, had ordered Hawaii-bound shipping rerouted to the south almost two weeks before the Japanese attack.

Ferguson and Senator Brewster (R-Me.) put their heads together often for whispered conferences during the cross examination period. Ferguson indicated later to reporters his questions were designed to show that there was some advance knowledge in Washington of the possibility of attack.

There remained little doubt, after yesterday's presentation of the intercepted Japanese messages, that official Washington knew Japan was on the verge of going to war.

Had Jap Secrets
From January, 1941, eleven months before the attack, the United States armed forces had been intercepting and decoding Japanese military messages. They had broken the Japanese diplomatic code by Aug. 8, 1941, and Tokyo's instructions to its representatives in the world's capitals were being read by Americans.

It was in this report of messages, Nomura's report on his conversation with the cabinet officer stood out, among these others:
The Japanese were reporting in detail the movements of the U. S.

Pacific fleet and continued reporting it until the day before the attack. They ordered their code books and machines destroyed December 2.

They apparently believed that the United States and Great Britain were preparing to occupy the Netherlands East Indies and they were prepared to attack in that area.

The Japanese told their Axis allies as early as the last week in November that negotiations with the United States were broken off and got German and Italian promises to join with them if they went to war against the Americans.

In the record of messages laid before the committee were many which indicated that Tokyo had instructed its "peace" ambassadors to play for time while the Japanese task force already was steaming toward Pearl Harbor.

Nomura and Kuroki were told by Tokyo in a November 28 message the navy translated that the negotiations with the United States actually were being broken off, but told them not to give that impression here.

DAMAGE SUIT IS SETTLED; HEAR SUPPORT CASES

A damage suit listed for trial at the November session of court was settled with court approval at noon Friday after three desertion and non-support cases had been disposed of at hearings in court that morning.

The case settled by agreement Friday was the damage action by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dove and their young daughter, Marlene, who will be three in January, all of Gettysburg, against Earl Pyle, also of Gettysburg. The suit is a result of an accident in which Marlene was "seriously and permanently injured" in a collision with Pyle's car on the Harrisburg road, near Heidlersburg, August 7, 1944.

Mr. Pyle denied liability for the accident but agreed to a compromise settlement on the basis of a payment of $175 to the parents to cover their expenses following the accident and $3,000 to the First National bank as the child's guardian. From the child's share is to be paid out $450 to John P. Butt, Esq., for his fee as plaintiffs' attorney in the case.

Terms of the settlement were presented to the court by Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., counsel for Mr. Pyle. Several weeks ago an unusual procedure was started in this case under which it would have been submitted to arbitration but the settlement made such action unnecessary.

After a hearing in court Friday morning Boyd C. Darr, Newville R. 2, was ordered to pay $6 a week for the support of his wife, Dorothy. He said he already pays $5 weekly for the support of their minor child, John Yealy, of Hanover, drew a $15-a-week court order after a hearing on a desertion charge brought by his wife, Clara. The support order is to provide for the wife and their 13-year-old daughter.

Francis Strausbaugh, Hamiltonban township, must pay $10 a week for the support of his wife, Edith, and their young son, the court ordered after a hearing. In each of the desertion cases the husband must pay the costs of the case and post a compliance bond.

A rule was issued on Earl DeHoff, Jr., Reedsville, to show cause why a process for his arrest should not be issued on grounds that he is $63 in arrears on a $7-a-week support order due his wife, Marie.

A citation was awarded in court Friday morning ordering Mildred A. Masemer, as executrix of the estate of Marks F. Bream, late of Tyrone township, to show cause why she should not pay the $4,040 balance in the Brame estate over to the widow, Mrs. Effie M. Brame, in accordance with a court-approved schedule of distribution already filed in the estate. The citation is returnable December 17.

County Motorist Will Face Charge

State police said Tuesday they will file a charge of failing to yield half of the highway against William N. Kane, 21, of Aspers, with Justice of the Peace William E. Stough, Aspers, following an accident on the Pitzer's Corners-Aspers road at 4:45 Monday afternoon.

Kane, police said, was driving south on the highway and in going around a curve cut to the left of the road, colliding with the automobile of B. H. Rinehart, Aspers R. 1. The Kane automobile went down a small embankment. No one was injured. Damage to the cars was estimated at $290.

Thomas Escapes Suicide Attack

Machinist's Mate 2/c Earl W. Thomas, Biglerville, and other crew members of the Destroyer John W. Weeks, which was assigned to the occupation forces at the end of the war, had a narrow escape from five Jap suicide planes just before the Japanese made their first peace bid.

In action since last January, when the Weeks joined the Third fleet in the Philippines, she was one of four destroyers on "picket" duty in the waters near Tokyo Bay when the five planes attacked on August 9. The suicideers whirled out of the sky and attacked with bombs, strafing and straight-on plunges. Four were knocked into the sea or blown to bits in the air, two of them falling victim to the guns of the Weeks. The fifth crashed into a destroyer nearby.

1ST FDR BOND IS PURCHASED BY LITTLE GIRL

The first Roosevelt Victory Bond in the current Victory Loan campaign in Adams county was purchased by Miss Sue Millicent Hollinger, five-year-old daughter of Major and Mrs. John C. Hollinger, college campus. Major Hollinger, who is the professor of military science and tactics at Gettysburg college, was a prisoner of the Germans, captured in "The Bulge" last December 19 and liberated about three months ago.

The $200 bond is the only purchase of this series reported at the Woman's Division of the Adams County War Finance committee so far in the campaign.

Simultaneously with the announcement came the report from county headquarters that the E bond sales inched nearer its goal Friday with sales, during the past 24 hours, totaling $3,426.26. This boosts the E bond total to $66,284.25. There was no report on sales of other types of bonds to individuals Friday. The few agencies who reported this morning announced their E bond sales and made no mention of other sales.

USV OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED BY STATE HEAD

Department Commander John D. Martz of Greensburg headed a delegation of state officers of the United Spanish War Veterans who came to Gettysburg Friday evening for a banquet and the annual installation of officers of William Steffy post No. 128.

The banquet, which preceded the installation, was held at the Blue Parrot restaurant and was given by members of the camp in honor of George S. Rightmyer, who was installed later in the evening for his fifth term as commander of the local post.

Master of ceremonies for the installation ceremonies was Charles McClune, Greensburg, department quartermaster. Department Adjutant Charles Parr, also of Greensburg, assisted. Among the 60 persons in attendance were guests from Fayetteville, Blue Ridge Summit, York, Harrisburg and Hanover.

On his visit here the department commander gave his final approval to plans for the department convention of the Spanish War Veterans and their Auxiliary here next June 9 to 13. Convention headquarters will be set up at the Hotel Gettysburg June 8 to prepare for the coming of an expected 500 delegates.

FIRST TO OFFER DRAFT SERVICE IS DISCHARGED

The first selective service draftee to leave local board No. 2, Gettysburg, for the army is back in civilian life, after five years, lacking just a few days, of service. He is William Sanford Eskridge, 39, who volunteered for the draft and entered service November 25, 1940.

WILLIAM S. ESKRIDGE

Mr. Eskridge has returned to Gettysburg and for the present he is making his home at 60 York street. Before entering the service he was employed by the C. H. Musselman company, Biglerville, where he is "still on the payroll," he said.

One of three who boarded a bus for Harrisburg, and the only one sent by the local board here, Eskridge was accepted at the induction center. His two companions from Board No. 1 were rejected, he said.

After being outfitted at Ft. Meade and training for four months at Carlisle barracks, Eskridge was sent to Ft. Riley, Kas., and then to Camp Carson, Colo. He then trained with the mountain troops for 22 months at Camp Hale, Colo., and was transferred back to Camp Carson and assigned to a military police detachment.

"Most of my time in the army was spent at Camp Carson," he said, after reporting Tuesday to his draft board here. "I hit new barracks almost everywhere I was sent. At Ft. Riley, Camp Carson and Camp Hale."

Eskridge did not go overseas. He says he spent most of his time in guarding prisoners, mostly German and some Italian.

"They had Japs at Camp Carson, too, but they were dead ones," he said. There was a military cemetery for prisoners there, he added.

Eskridge was discharged at Camp Carson October 29. He visited a sister, Mrs. O. W. Campbell, at Ashland, Ky., before returning to Gettysburg. He has three half-brothers and five nephews in the service. A half-brother in the army and another in the marines were wounded. He hasn't heard from the other half-brother in the navy for some time.

LOCAL DIVORCE RECOMMENDED

The granting of a divorce, on the grounds of infidelity, was recommended by Edgar K. Markley, masters, in the action brought by Howard Walter Angell, Gettysburg, against his wife, Alizetta Smith Angell, that place, in a master's report filed Saturday at the court house.

There was no appearance in the case either by the respondent or by Ellis E. Smith, Gettysburg, named co-respondent in the action. The Angells were married September 21, 1935, at Mount Holly Springs, and separated in May, 1936.

Angell was in the service from May 21, 1942, to September 18, 1945, and was overseas 18 months. The libellant charged that his wife and Smith lived together in Gettysburg and Marsh Creek Heights, Angell was represented by John P. Butt, Esq.

Clothing Collection In Schools Successful

The clothing collection program conducted in the Gettysburg public schools during the week of October 23 for needy children in the south and overseas netted donations totaling 530 pounds.

Eight large bags of clothing were gathered from Meade school pupils, seven at the High Street school, five at the high school and three from Lincoln school pupils.

Pays $40 Fine For Employing Children

Mrs. Maxine Stewart, Gettysburg, Tuesday pleaded guilty to a charge of employing pun boys under 16 years of age without working permits in her bowling alleys in Gettysburg, before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore and paid a fine of $40 and costs.

Mrs. Stewart was arrested Monday night by Sheriff J. E. Millhimes on a complaint filed by an agent of the Department of Labor and Industry. On October 23, investigation showed, according to the complaint, that four boys, 11 years of age, and one 14 years old, were being employed at the bowling alleys.

LOCAL MAN IS CONVICTED ON ASSAULT COUNT

Instructed by the court that intoxication is no defense, a jury late Tuesday found James Wagaman, Gettysburg, guilty of assault and battery in the first case to go to trial at the November trial term.

Wagaman had testified to having had beer or "double shots" of liquor for "breakfast, dinner and supper" on September 1, the day he was charged with having struck a friend, Belford Speelman, Gettysburg R. 4, on the head with a partly filled wine bottle.

Wagaman "remembered" taking one drink of wine at the former gun club building, south of the high school, Gettysburg, but testified he had no recollection of striking Speelman. After the drink of wine, he said he remembers nothing until he woke up in jail the next morning.

Speelman and Miss Anna Reynolds, Mechanicsburg, agreed that Wagaman had struck Speelman on the head with the wine bottle but differed on the reason for the assault. Miss Reynolds said Speelman had asked her for "a date" and Wagaman had objected. Speelman said Wagaman attacked him when he asked him (Wagaman) for $125 the defendant had owed for several weeks.

Trial of the case was completed in about an hour and a half. The first 12 jurors called were accepted by District Attorney J. Francis Yake and E. V. Bulett, Esq., court-appointed counsel for Wagaman. The defendant was the only defense witness and there was no plea to the jury by Mr. Bulett. The jury deliberated about 15 minutes.

On the jury were Mrs. Elizabeth Bream, Gettysburg; Pius Breighner, McSherrystown; Alvin Bupp, Gettysburg R. 5; Arthur E. Cook, Aspers R. D.; Frank Dillon, Ottomanna R. 2; Guy Gordon, Fairfield R. 2; W. Frank Menges, York Springs; Dolly Mae McIntire, East Berlin; Clarence K. Sheely, Littlestown; Charles Stoner, Gettysburg R. D.; Paul Straley, Littlestown R. 2, and Ethel Weigle, Gettysburg R. D.

The first case called for trial Tuesday was that in which Graham P. Kessler, Silver Spring, Md., a former Gettysburg college student is charged by state police with drunken driving. Kesler was not in court. His $500 bail bond was forfeited by the court and a process was issued for his arrest.

Changes Plea Again Clarence L. Warren, Fairfield R. D., scheduled for trial Tuesday on a charge of turning out his lights after an accident to avoid identification, has changed his mind again about his guilt or innocence.

Soon after his arrest he signed a plea of guilty but when he appeared for sentence he denied he had turned off the lights on his car and was allowed to enter a plea of "not guilty." Tuesday morning he signed another plea of guilty and will be listed for sentence Saturday.

With the permission of the court and the district attorney, William Sinner, East Berlin mailman, will be tried on two indecent assault charges before the judge. He has waived jury trial.

"No True Bill" The grand jury found "no true bill" against James R. Dupree, Washington, D. C., who had been charged by Mary J. Gebhart, Mt. Pleasant township, with driving a car without the owner's consent. Costs of the case were placed on the prosecutor.

The case against Philip McCaffrey, Littlestown, was continued again when the defense attorney, John P. Butt, Esq., presented a doctor's certificate stating that McCaffrey is seriously ill.

Prospects for a long term of court dwindled further Thursday when the common pleas trial list dropped to two cases from an original seven.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Tyson C. Tipton, Burford avenue, observed their 49th wedding anniversary Saturday.

POLICE BLAME CARELESSNESS FOR ACCIDENTS

A jump of eight in the number of highway accidents investigated by state police during October over the September figure led to the statement Friday by Sgt. K. Kurt Duhrkoff, in charge of the Gettysburg substation, that the increase in the accident rate is due to careless and thoughtless driving.

"Important factors in this increase are the failure of drivers to stay on their own side of the highway, and to driving too fast for road conditions, such as speeding on curves, wet pavements, at intersections and in congested traffic," Sergeant Duhrkoff said.

Attention was called by the sergeant that the November, December and January inspection period opened November 1, and that motor vehicles must be inspected by February 1. Prosecutions start then for failure to have vehicles inspected and windshield stickers displayed. Trooper Carl Renz is in charge of inspection supervision in this area.

Three Fatalities

Three persons were killed or died as the result of highway accidents during October, and 11 others were injured. Property damage amounted during the month to $8,647. Six accidents involved only one automobile, in which cars ran off the highways. In two cases, cars struck or were struck by animals.

There were three arrests for failure to drive to the right of the center line of the highway; two each for hit-run and for reckless driving, one for failure to yield the right of way at an intersection, one for driving without an operator license, and one on three charges, hit-run, driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest. Several were cited for departmental hearings.

Only seven troopers are now stationed with the Gettysburg detail, Sergeant Duhrkoff and Troopers George Evanko, George Ackerson, Frank Yercavage, Robert Dietrich, James Walsh and Carl Renz.

Local Wac Home From Overseas

Fort Dix, N. J., — T/5 Mary Jane Hudson is glad to be home again after 15 months in the ETO. She arrived in the states last week on the Queen Mary, which carried 950 WACs, one of the largest groups ever to return at one time. Cpl. Hudson was honorably discharged at the

MARY JANE HUDSON

WAC Separation Center at Fort Dix, N. J., Wednesday.

Pretty, dark-haired Mary is well-known to many GIs in Paris who saw and heard her sing with Army bands or heard some of the recordings which she made. The singing was done on her own time; during the day she worked as a clerk with the 29th Traffic Regulation Group in Paris. One of her memorable experiences was a furlough spent at the United States Recreational Area on the French Riviera. "We had a wonderful time there," she says.

Before she enlisted in the WAC in October, 1943, she was employed at the Mechanicsburg Naval Depot. She said her plans for the future are indefinite, but include "a good long rest."

Cpl. Hudson arrived home Wednesday evening. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Hudson, Hanover street, Gettysburg.

Four County Sailors Given Discharge

Four Gettysburg servicemen have been discharged from the navy at the separation center at Bainbridge, Md., according to the center's office of public information. They are:

MM 3/C John Ira Herman, SF 2/c Calvin R. Shultz, 142 High street; S 1/c John C. Showavater, 138 Carlisle street, and AOM 1/c Guy R. Sentz, 167 North Stratton street.

Musselman Workers Give To War Fund

Employees of the Biglerville plant of the C. H. Musselman company added $295.99 to the Adams county war fund Friday, which reached $6,678.11. A total of $799.99 was added to the previously reported total of $5,878.21.

In addition to the $295.99 from Musselman employees, a contribution of $10 was listed from John A. Hauser, Biglerville. Additional amounts from Gettysburg contributors included:

$250: Gettysburg Furniture company, Reaser Furniture company and Gettysburg Panel company; $100: Metropolitan Edison company; $20: Mothers' Class of St. James Sunday school; $10: Gettysburg Rotary club, St. James Mite society and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Culp.

INDICT PAIR FOR SWINDLING OF COUNTY FARMER

Two Philadelphia men, now serving two-year minimum terms in the Franklin county jail, were indicted by the November grand jury here last Thursday afternoon for cheating an Adams county farmer of more than $6,000 on fictitious coal mining operations in West Virginia.

The five indictments handed up against the pair covered $6,150 the men obtained from L. B. Frommeyer, Mt. Pleasant township, at various times last year and early in 1945. The specific charge against the men is "cheating by false pretense."

Early this fall the defendants, David R. Reside and Harvey S. Zimmerman, were convicted on similar charges in Franklin county and given jail terms. The indictments were asked here Thursday so that the statute of limitations would not bar prosecution on the Adams county charges when the men have finished their Franklin county prison terms.

In one indictment Reside is charged with having secured $1,150 from Frommeyer for land and coal mining equipment in Holly River district, Hacker's Valley section, Webster county, West Virginia. On various claims that storms had damaged buildings and equipment there, additional sums were secured from Mr. Frommeyer subsequently, it is alleged. One indictment is for using false pretenses to secure Mr. Frommeyer's signature on an agreement to purchase the West Virginia land.

Drops Larceny Charge District Attorney J. Francis Yake, dropped a larceny charge against Harry Thompson, Gettysburg R. 2, on grounds that the youth was "a fugitive from the state school of mental delinquents to which he has been returned." He was charged with stealing $550 from Stella Ferner, Mt. Joy township.

H. Alvin Jones, New Oxford, was foreman of the grand jury.

TO RE-ORGANIZE WELFARE GROUP

Plans for a county-wide meeting of community and welfare organizations on January 17 were made at a meeting Monday evening of a special temporary committee named last month to consider plans for the reorganization of the Adams County Welfare committee.

The group, under the leadership of Dr. Robert A. Bream, the chairman, discussed the question of whether there is a need for such an organization and listed at least three reasons for the existence of such a group: To discuss community problems and inform public opinion here on local situations, facilitate the school health program and possibly establish a school dental service in the county, consider the establishment of a tri-county child guidance center, and establish a clearing house or registration of welfare agencies in the county.

All community, civic and welfare groups in the county will be invited to send representatives to the January 17 meeting.

Members of Doctor Bream's committee in attendance at Monday's meeting include the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman, Mrs. Elizabeth Grieb, Mrs. Wilda W. McBeth, Mrs. Frank Kramer, Miss Kathryn Oller, Mrs. S. R. Baby, Mrs. A. Harrison Barr, and the Rev. W. N. Zobler.

WILL MOVE STORE

J. Calvin Shank, proprietor of the Gettysburg Hardware store, has leased the former Peoples' Cash store room and will move his store to that location early in January. Mr. Shank is vacating his present quarters to make way for a remodeling and expansion program of the Legion post.

Elks Club Votes $10,000 Gift To Warner Hospital

Members of the Gettysburg Elks club voted a cash appropriation of $10,000 to the Annie M. Warner hospital for the purchase of a deep therapy x-ray machine at their meeting Monday evening.

This is reported to be the largest cash donation to the local institution, with the exception of the Christian H. Musselman memorial annex recently announced by the C. H. Musselman Foundation, of Biglerville.

The Elks' donation was approved by unanimous vote of the membership at one of the largest attended meetings in years. Not a dissenting vote was cast.

Treat Cancer And Tumors

The deep therapy machine, the cost of which will not exceed $10,000, is one of the most modern pieces of medical equipment developed by medical science in recent years. Among the most important uses will be treatment of cancer and other malignant tumors.

The donation is made as a memorial to Adams county Elks who served in World War II. Ninety of the 466 members of the local club were in service. Two were killed in action, five were wounded and one was a prisoner of war of the Germans, since liberated.

RURAL PUPILS SHOW INTEREST IN CO. LIBRARY

Santa Claus may soon have a serious rival in popularity among the school children of Adams county—the "library lady"—if Miss Kathryn Oller, county librarian, finds a similar reception here to that which she received in some of the rural schools of Huntingdon county where she previously served.

In a talk Monday evening before the Gettysburg Lions club, Miss Oller said that some boys and girls said they looked forward with greater anticipation to the visits of the "library lady" than for Santa Claus because the former "always had something for every boy and girl," and some were not always remembered by Santa.

Preparations that are being made to place the new county library in operation by January 1 to offer recreation and instructive reading to every man, woman and child in the county were described. The bookmobile, which will carry books to every school and to other distribution centers throughout the county, was described by Miss Oller as one of the most important parts of the county library plan. A bookmobile is to be bought by the Adams County Free Library as soon as it is available.

Vote Two Donations

Miss Oller was presented by Dr. Robert A. Bream, a member of the club and one of the organizers of the new library.

The Lions voted $15 to the National War Fund and $5 to the Gettysburg Civic Nursing association on recommendation of the finance committee.

Radford Lippy explained plans for an attendance and achievement contest within the club with the members being divided into two teams with special credits for perfect attendance, new members and visiting other clubs in groups of four or more. Individual and team awards are offered.

Forty-seven members and guests attended with President Glenn L. Bream presiding. The meeting was held at the Marine restaurant.

Jail Veteran On Code Violation

Charged with driving a Buick sedan with a 1944 Kentucky license plate which expired March 31, Jeri Caldwell, Harrodsville road, Danville, Ky., a discharged veteran, was committed to Adams county jail late Tuesday in default of a $25 fine and costs.

Caldwell was arrested by state police, who filed the charge of operating a motor vehicle without having the vehicle properly registered in the state of residence of the owner, before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

OKAY FARM LOAN

An application for a Farm Security Administration loan for the purchase of a farm in Adams county was approved at a recent meeting of the county FSA committee.

Clarence A. Myers, York supervisor; and Committeemen Felix Klunk, McSherrystown; Kenneth D. Bream and O. H. Benson, both of Gettysburg R. D., attended.

The new deep therapy machine will be housed in a specially constructed section at the north end of the present building. It will require heavily leaded walls and the operators will work from behind heavily leaded glass. The machine is available now and is expected to be put in operation some time next summer, when the new building is planned to be completed.

It is specified that the machine will be made available to all hospital patients who require its use. Those who are able to pay for the treatments will be expected to do so. Others may only be able to pay part of the cost while still others, those financially unable to pay, will be given the same treatment and consideration as others. Income from the machine will be used for its upkeep.

This is not the first gift from the Elks that the hospital has received. A short time ago the Elks voted $500 toward the purchase of new x-ray diagnostic equipment now in use at the hospital and on another occasion the Elks donated a respirator to the hospital. The latter machine has seen so much service that it soon will need replacement. The Elks also maintain Room 11 on the first floor of the hospital.

The Elks' donation, following closely the announcement of the C. H. Musselman Foundation gift of a new annex is believed by many to be the forerunner of other substantial donations to the hospital to enhance its present equipment and facilities.

A report, that could not be confirmed was to the effect that other lodges in the county were considering gifts and donations to the local institution.

The department declared harvesting of corn, buckwheat, soy

In Thursday's edition of the Gettysburgian, Gettysburg college newspaper, Charles R. Wolfe, college registrar, announces a plan for admitting ex-servicemen to the college on November 15, mid-point in the first semester. Former servicemen also may enter at the end of each semester.

These men will be offered a selection of a half dozen or more subjects which they can take on an accelerated basis and complete the full semester's work in the remaining eight weeks. "Refresher" courses also are being arranged.

The college has announced that wherever possible military experience and training will be linked with academic attainment. Credits toward graduation will be given for courses taken in Officers' Candidate school, the Army Specialized Training Program, the Navy and Marine College training programs and correspondence work with the United States Armed Forces Institute, provided they can be reduced to credits equal to those offered at Gettysburg college.

A schedule has been arranged at the college permitting ex-servicemen to enter January 28, March 28, June 10, July 22 and September 22, 1946.

2 Autos Sideswiped, Charge To Be Filed

Automobiles operated by John Monaco, 50, of Williamsport, and Grant E. Morrow, 21, of Landisburg, Pa., sideswiped seven miles south of Gettysburg at 5:35 Saturday afternoon when Monaco started to pass on the crest of a grade, state police, who investigated the accident, reported.

Information will be filed against Monaco with Justice of the Peace Ellis Stine, Fairfield R. 2, for improper passing, the state police said. The Morrow car overturned, but there were no injuries. Damage to the two automobiles was estimated at $300.

CPL. GLENN HAS TEA WITH JAPS ON CHINA TRIP

Balked in their assignment to erect a radio station in Yangchow by the lack of two vital parts, Cpl. Jack Glenn, son of Dr. and Mrs. John G. Glenn, 27 East Lincoln avenue, Gettysburg, and two of his buddies had a good time instead.

In a letter written on his return to Shanghai, to relatives in Gettysburg, Cpl. Glenn tells of how American planes dropped food and supplies to internees at a prison camp; of how he had tea with Japanese "brass hats" and of the present of a samurai sword he received.

"Yangchow was a Japanese prison camp for civilian internees," Cpl. Glenn wrote. "The camp itself was at an American mission nestled in the northeast corner of the old walled city that lies on the banks of the famous 'Grand canal.'"

"There was no contact between the people at the camp and the outer world for over two and a half years except what their Jap guards and the Jap military allowed. A few letters—then finally in the spring the sound of American bombs many miles away, and then in July, rations and clothing dropped to the camp from American planes.

Aid By Parachute
"How an American soldier's heart swells to hear from the lips of these people the story of how the planes came over. The parachutes opening, the objects looming larger and larger, how one barrel of shoes went right through the roof of one building, how they chased others for miles over the countryside. Then the opening of the parcels, G.I. clothing, American cigarettes and 10-in-1 rations. All this after a stretch of six months when their day's fare consisted of a dish of cooked turnips at each mealtime!"

Cpl. Glenn wrote that Chinkiang, which he visited, at one time was a thriving seaport, although 150 miles from the ocean. It ranked with Nanking and Chungking in trade volume and compared favorably with Shanghai. River silt has ruined the harbor. Cpl. Glenn "teamed up" with a Japanese lieutenant while looking for a place to locate the radio station. Although the lieutenant couldn't speak English, he could write it. Another, a Chinese captain, took Cpl. Glenn to the local Jap headquarters and to tea with the lieutenant general.

Had Visited America
"All made deep bows and were very courteous," he wrote. "We chatted for nearly an hour and the general gave us each swords. The general told us about his visits to America and all the American cities he had seen, what had impressed him, and that he had been a military attaché in London for some eight years and knew the Kennedy and John Winant well."

The radio station which they didn't erect because, when they unpacked the boxes, two small cords were missing, was to have been the link with Shanghai. Cpl. Glenn wrote that the only way to keep in touch with Shanghai after the end of the war was to send someone from the camp as a courier, down the canal or by Japanese truck to the Yangtze, across on a ferry and by train to Nanking or Shanghai, a matter of at least 12 hours one way.

Nephew And Uncle Meet On Leyte

Pvt. Baumgardner, a member of a medical outfit, learned his uncle's quartermaster group was stationed about six miles away and arranged a surprise meeting. Baumgardner has been overseas since August, 1944, while McDannell went overseas about two months ago.

$4,000 EQUITY CASE IS FILED

A case in equity involving Mary Grace Fifer Luntz, Hamiltonban township, plaintiff, and Jesse W. Starliper, contract tenant on the Luntz farm, in which the plaintiff seeks $4,000 damages and restraint of the defendant from removing products from the farm has been filed in the office of the Adams county prothonotary, Arthur H. Shields.

According to the papers filed in the action, a contract was signed March 12, 1945, whereby the defendant agreed to work a farm in Hamiltonban township for the plaintiff, the latter furnishing the land and tools.

The action charges that Starliper failed to give up his employment at the Letternkeny Ordnance Depot; that on July 17 he notified the plaintiff verbally that he was discontinuing the work; that he failed to harvest several crops and care for hogs, and that he had harvested and removed without permission a crop of corn.

An eviction action started in September is pending.

Urged To Report Change Of Address

Motor vehicle owners and operators who have changed their addresses were urged Tuesday by Secretary of Revenue David W. Harris to comply at once with the law, which requires that notification of such change be made within 48 hours.

Records indicate a growing disregard for this law, Secretary Harris said. This places an unnecessary burden upon the commonwealth. Printed forms are available from aldermen, justices of the peace, notaries and motor clubs, or from the bureau of motor vehicles, Harrisburg.

MUSIC LOVERS ENTERTAINED BY CONCERT GROUP

The Infantry Concert Group which entertained a highly appreciative Gettysburg audience a year ago, returned to justify expectations Friday evening and won the plaudits of a gathering of more than 600 in Brua chapel on the college campus.

The varied symphonic numbers under the direction of Sgt. Richard Freitas were presented in connection with the Victory Loan campaign in Adams county, tickets being available to purchasers of bonds. The Adams County War Finance committee was sponsor of the program.

"Tales of the Vienna Woods," by Strauss, well-known to all music lovers, was probably the number which gained the greatest applause, although the concert in its entirety was very well received.

Carmen Popular

The "Suite from Carmen," concluding with the ever-popular Toreador Song, was likewise a highlight of the evening's entertainment, and a number which, through its expert rendering, drew many rounds of applause.

The program was well-balanced, with lighter numbers interspersed, and one varied enough to meet all musical tastes. Bach was represented on the program by "Prelude in E Major," and the Debussy number, "Clair de Lune," was equally well received. A more modern touch was added in Morton Gould's "Pavane."

The conductor, Sgt. Freitas, was head of the music department of the Horace Mann high school in New York City and violinist in the NBC symphony orchestra before entering the service. Other members of the concert orchestra were members of well-known symphony orchestras before donning uniforms.

Concert Artists

The violin section was made up of Sgts. Alvin G. Rudnitsky, Eugene Phillips, Joseph H. Stephanski, Abe Lazansky, William Faldner, Casimir Antonski, Ozzie DePaul and Harold E. Kupper. Pfc. Fritz Magg contributed to the program with a cello solo, and Sgt. Harry Shulman, a former member of the Pittsburgh symphony orchestra, supplied a solo part on the bassoon. Other members of the group included: violas, Sgts. David P. Dawson and William Carbone; bass, Sgt. Murray Grodner; clarinets, Sgt. Clark L. Brody, Jr., and Cpl. Joseph B. Title, and French horn, Sgt. Fred E. Klein.

LAYMEN PICK 3 OBJECTIVES

The community laymen's organization selected its name and stated its objectives at a meeting of representatives of 11 local churches Monday evening at the YWCA building. The president, Dr. Thomas L. Cline, presided.

The Religious Laymen's Association of Gettysburg was the name agreed upon for the group.

The three objectives of the organization were stated as follows:
a) To promote religious friendliness within the community.
b) To give added opportunity for the expression of religious idealism.
c) To suggest and study ideas and plans for community betterment.

It was announced following the meeting that plans for a community rally of laymen, originally scheduled for this month, have been changed and that the meeting probably will be held in mid-January. Churches represented at the meeting included: St. James and College Lutheran, Methodist, Reformed, Presbyterian, Catholic, A. M. E. Zion, Church of the Brethren, Episcopal, Jewish and United Brethren.

The next meeting of the key men from the respective congregations will be held Monday, January 7.

CAPT. RHOADS, LOCAL DOCTOR, IS DISCHARGED

Capt. John P. Rhoads, 222 Springs avenue, has returned to the states after thirty-three months' overseas duty, Captain Rhoads served as battalion surgeon with the 451 AAA Battalion which arrived overseas March 18, 1943.

After disembarking in North Africa near Casablanca the battalion was under General Patton's First Armored Corps. In September, 1943, Capt. Rhoads sailed with the battalion from the port of Alsciers for the beaches of Salerno. In Italy, the battalion became a part of the Fifth Army with which they crossed the Volturno river and were up against the Italian winter line and then Cassino. For a time they were under a British brigade.

In February, 1944, Captain Rhoads accompanied the battalion to the Anzio Beachhead where he was wounded and awarded the Purple Heart. When the breakthrough came in May, the "Rolling 451st" went into Rome and on to Grosseto and then were withdrawn.

"D" day in southern France was his battalion's next mission. They were now a part of the 7th Army and landed at St. Maxime with the invasion forces. They went to Toulon and Marseille and part way up the Rhone valley after which a long period of port AAA defense in southern France followed.

In December when Von Rundstedt went on a rampage in the Ardennes, his unit rushed north and was pulled back to Liege, Belgium, where it became part of the Ninth Air Force but was controlled by the First Army for a time. The buzz-bomb offensive was the most difficult to combat. After things quieted down, the battalion went back to the 7th Army and guarded the famous Remagen bridge and eventually went on through Wurtemberg and Bavaria to Austria. Since the surrender, Captain Rhoads was stationed in Germany.

Capt. Rhoads was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious and superior service during combat in the campaigns in southern France and Germany. He wears the EAME ribbon with six battle stars for the following campaigns: Naples-Foggia; Rome-Arno; Southern France; Ardennes; Rhineland and Central Germany. In addition he has a bronze arrowhead for taking part in the initial assault in Southern France.

At present he is on terminal leave after separation from the service at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation.

MAROONS LOSE 7TH STRAIGHT TO END SEASON

There were few sorry Gettysburg fans who left the Gettysburg high school athletic field Friday evening, grateful that at last the football season had ended.

They had just seen their favorites lose to Mechanicsburg 32-13 to wind up their 1945 season without a victory which duplicated the record of the 1943 squad. (Last year the Maroons won one game.)

It appeared that the Maroons might have a chance in the first half which ended with Mechanicsburg on top 12-6, but the Wildcats' hard charging and effective blocking soon erased that hallucination in the second half.

Rider, hard running Mechanicsburg back, chalked up four touchdowns, one on a 67-yard gallop in the last minutes of the first half.

Start Well

The Ridinger-men started off like they meant business. Taylor was downed on his own 43 on the kickoff. Hess and Bucher ripped out a first down on the Mechanicsburg 45 and Hess hit the line three successive times for a first down on the 34. After two line slabs netted five yards the Maroons took to the air, Rasmussen receiving the toss and when he attempted to lateral Kreitzer pounced on the leather on his 28 to stop the drive.

Early in the second period Forry whipped a pass from his own 37 to Jacobs for a first down on the Gettysburg 14. A pass to Bowersox and plunge by Rider was good for a first down on the three. Rider went over on his second try. A pass for the point was grounded.

Rasmussen Scores

One of the most thrilling plays of the game came a few minutes later when the Ridinger-men knotted the score. With the ball on the locals' 35, Mattingly lateraled to Hess who whipped a 40-yard toss to Rasmussen on the enemy's 25 with Rasmussen streaking the remaining distance for a score. Gorman was smothered before he could attempt a dropkick for the point.

Gettysburg's elation over the score was quickly stifled as two plays later Mechanicsburg scored again. The Maroons' kickoff was returned by Rider to his 33. On the first play he went around left end and streaked 67 yards to reach pay dirt. Another pass was grounded for the point.

The Wildcats quickly added another touchdown after the intermission marching straight upfield from their 20 for four first downs on line smashes to reach the 14 from where Rider went around left end to tally. Bowersox added the point on a line buck.

Block Kick

Sheely recovered a blocked punt to give Mechanicsburg the ball on the Gettysburg 32 a few minutes later and then Rider went off right end from that point for his third touchdown. Forry added the point on a lone smash.

Shortly after the fourth period got underway Rider went through the center of the line, shook off several tacklers, and went 16 yards for a tally. A line plunge was stopped for the point.

Coaches Ridinger and Fredericks made good use of their reserve material in the last minutes of play and it was during this stage of the game the locals added their second touchdown.

Passes Click

Gorman leaped high in the air to whip a long pass to Rasmussen for a first down on the visitors' 23. Another pass, Gorman to Rasmussen, followed by a lateral to Bucher, put the ball on the seven. Hess then passed to Rasmussen who lateraled to McDonnell, the latter scoring from the two. Gorman chucked another pass to Hess for the extra point.

Mechanicsburg rolled up 15 first downs while the Maroons gained eight, one on a penalty. Approximately 1,700 fans witnessed the contest, several hundred being Mechanicsburg fans.

The Maroons' loss was their seventh of the season and definitely put them in the cellar of the South Penn conference for the season.

COLONEL ARNOLD IN COMMAND OF VANCOUVER BKS.

Colonel E. G. Arnold, former professor of Military Science and Tactics at Gettysburg college, has assumed command of Vancouver Barracks, Vancouver, Washington, just across the Columbia river from Portland, Oregon.

Colonel Arnold is a veteran of two wars, World War I and II. Prior to entering the army he attended the United States Naval Academy, at Annapolis, Md., for two years when he resigned to enter the army. He served with the Polish plebiscite commission after the first World War and after completing that tour of duty served at a number of posts in this country and in the Philippines, Puerto Rico, and China.

During the last war he commanded a regiment at Camp Wheeler, Ga., before he was transferred to the command of the 8th Port of Embarkation, Boston, which he built to war strength and then took overseas. His outfit served in North Africa. After serving on a military tribunal Colonel Arnold was transferred to Naples and after nineteen months overseas he was returned to this country and assigned to staff headquarters at Seattle. Later he was in the intelligence division on the west coast before given the command of Vancouver Barracks.

Coveted Assignment

Vancouver Barracks is one of the oldest army posts in the country and is rated by army officers as a coveted assignment. It was founded in 1825 by the English Hudson's Bay Company. From June 1846 to 1859 the fort was held jointly by the United States and the Hudson's Bay company.

Among the officers who commanded the post are General U. S. Grant, General Winfield Scott, General Philip Sheridan, General William T. Sherman, General Frederick Funston, General George C. Marshall, present Chief-of-Staff of the U. S. Army and others.

The post covers an area of more than 1,000 acres in the heart of the city of Vancouver.

Mrs. Arnold, who returned east from Seattle several months ago to transact some business and to visit her son, Jack S. Arnold, in New York, will return to Vancouver in the early future to establish post headquarters for her husband. The Arnolds plan to maintain their Gettysburg residence at least through next spring.

This order controlled the manufacture and use of all tin cans for military and civilian food packaging. He was also consultant on other consumer packages for WPA.

More Than 400 At Sinclair Meeting

More than 400 persons attended the showing of the Sinclair Refining company's new sound movie, "Heaven With a Fence Around It," at the Peace Light Inn last Wednesday evening. The film dramatized the responsibilities of civilians to returning veterans.

"Judging from the audience reactions, the picture was very successful," J. C. Hartman, Gettysburg Sinclair agent, declared. "As a result, other organizations are requesting the use of the film," he said.

"The picture is timely, educational, and of interest to every civilian, serviceman and discharged veteran. Those wishing to show 'Heaven With a Fence Around It' are welcome to call me for details. The telephone number is 86-W. There is no charge for use of the movie except the expense of returning the film to us."

CANNERS GAIN FIFTH VICTORY BY 14-12 SCORE

After piling up a 14-0 advantage at half time, Biglerville high school's football team staved off a big last half rally by Susquehanna township high Friday afternoon at Biglerville to gain a 14-12 decision.

The Canners scored early in the first period. On an exchange of punts Dave Pitzer punted to the Susquehanna 3. The kick was immediately returned and the ball was downed on the Biglerville 30. After two unsuccessful plays D. Pitzer whipped a long pass to Utz who took the ball on the run and raced from the 10-yard stripe for a score. On a reverse Utz swept around right end for the extra point.

Biglerville moved 40 yards for its second touchdown. Late in the third period Rice recovered a fumble on an attempted lateral by Burney on the Susquehanna 40. Utz and Pitzer picked up a first down on the 25 and then Pitzer hammered his way through to the 2-yard as the second period opened.

After picking up one and a half yards on two line bucks, Pitzer found a hole in the right side and smashed over for the score. Pitzer whipped a pass to Bucher for the point.

Indians Rally

Susquehanna came back strong in the second half and dominated play throughout most of the remainder of play. The Indians marched 70 yards for a touchdown in the third period following an intercepted pass on the Susquehanna 30.

Reigle, Eslinger and Christ smashed through the Canner line on a series of reverses and spinners to roll up four first downs to put the ball on the 15. Eslinger picked up five yards at left end and then Burney went over from the 10 on a spinner through the center of the line. Reigle's line buck for the point was smothered.

Another intercepted pass, by Reed on the Biglerville 33, late in the third period, set the stage for Susquehanna's second tally early in the fourth period.

Burney went off left tackle for a first down on the 13 and three plays later Burney made a first down on the four. Biglerville yielded two yards on the next two plays but then Eslinger went through left tackle for the score. A plunge for the point failed.

Canners Outgained

Two passes to Reed put the ball on the Biglerville 20 in the last minutes of play but the Canners rallied to smother two more pass attempts as the game ended.

The Indians outgained Biglerville nine first downs to seven.

Next Saturday the Canners, victors in five of seven games, one having resulted in a tie, conclude their season by meeting Camp Hill on the latter's field.

COUNTY YOUTH ARRESTED IN FATAL MISHAP

As the result of an automobile collision on August 5, in which three persons lost their lives, Charles R. Sheaffer, Jr., 17, East Berlin, was arrested Wednesday morning, charged with involuntary manslaughter. The youth was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Curtis S. Forry, York, on information made before Justice of the Peace John C. Smith, Springettsburg, by County Detective William Kasparovich. He was released on $1,000 bail for his appearance in juvenile court.

Young Sheaffer was the driver of an automobile which collided with another driven by Edwin Schlosser, Arendtsville, on the Lincoln highway near Abbottstown. Fatally injured in the accident were Orville Leivan, 15, York, a passenger in Sheaffer's car, and John H. Allison, 43, Gettysburg R. 3, and his wife, Lettie Allison, 41, passengers in the Schlosser car.

"Reckless Driving"

The information charges Sheaffer with operating a motor vehicle in a reckless and negligent manner, and at an excessive rate of speed. Legal action was delayed pending the outcome of injuries suffered by Mrs. Edwin Schlosser, who is still in a serious condition.

Other passengers in the Sheaffer car at the time of the collision were Norma Jean Leivan, the victim's sister, and Dorothy and Joyce Dennis, all of York.

At an inquest held subsequently, a coroner's jury found that the fatal accident was due to negligence on the part of young Sheaffer. Attorney Herbert B. Cohen, York, is his counsel.

STILWELL WAS FACTOR BEHIND CONCERT GROUP

The Infantry Concert Group left Gettysburg Monday to complete its Pennsylvania tour and swing north to New York and Massachusetts. It leaves behind the memory of an outstanding musical event in Gettysburg, but just how outstanding, few probably realize.

This group of army musicians would be literally a "dream orchestra" if, during peacetime, these men were in mufti, and were similarly assembled, which is a definite improbability. They represent the "cream of the crop" of the nation's outstanding younger musicians. Only in the army could such a grouping be possible.

And it is largely due to the interest and efforts of Gen. Joseph "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell, that the eastern and southern sections of the nation have been afforded the opportunity to hear the music of these artists. Stilwell, himself an accomplished musician (he plays the violin), and music lover, started the concert group on what was to have been a month's tour late in March. The month isn't up yet.

Born in Madeira
Before the war the individual members of the concert group were widely separated. They were following the pursuits of talented young musicians in some of the country's leading concert and symphony orchestras. At least one, Richard Freitas, was teaching music as well as composing and playing.

Then the war. Musicians became soldiers. Freitas was sent to Florida. At the Army Air Forces Tactical Air Center in Orlando he became translator for the Brazilian general staff, then in this country studying American air force tactics. This assignment came to him because of his knowledge of Portuguese. He was born in the Madeira Islands.

"I had my evenings free, so I played," said Sgt. Freitas, in recounting, before he left Gettysburg, the history, in brief, of his talented group. "Some of the boys had heard of my work. We formed an orchestra. Then three of us were transferred to the infantry and sent to Camp Gordon."

Play for Stilwell
It was at Camp Gordon that Gen. Stilwell entered the picture.

"I was washing down the walls of a barracks when the order came to report to the mess hall a mile and a half away, prepared to play for the general during the dinner hour. Gen. Stilwell was on a tour of inspection at Camp Gordon," St. Freitas said.

"We had to hurry to change our clothes, clean up and get our instruments, but we made it. I arranged the orchestra, expecting Gen. Stilwell to pass by on his way to the officers' table. But instead he stopped to listen and then pulled up a chair and sat down."

"Officers came to him to tell him that dinner was ready to be served. They told him that he was due on the range. They said that unless he ate his dinner he would disrupt the schedule."

"I can listen to guns anytime, but I can't listen to music like this," he told them.

This was on February 8. Within a few days came orders to report to Washington. Army records were combed for the best musicians, and thus was the army ground forces concert group born.

Sgt. Freitas directed the orchestra at Camp Gordon by acclamation of his fellow musicians. In civilian life he had been a music instructor at Horace Mann school in New York city, had played with the NBC orchestra and directed a small concert orchestra which had played in New York and New Jersey. But the boys didn't know he was a conductor, and in this capacity he surprised even himself.

"A Red Cross concert tour was our first job, and the boys chose me to direct them," Sgt. Freitas recalled. "I got a tremendous ovation when they discovered I was conductor."

It was at this time that two major events occurred in the life of Conductor Freitas. There was a visit from the stork at the Freitas home. From the pages of the Freitas diary comes this gem:

"It looks as though I have given birth to a baby and an orchestra."

Two days after Gen. Stilwell heard the group at Camp Gordon. Kay Kayser brought his personality and name band to that army post.

"We played for him, and one of our numbers was 'Holiday for Strings,'" said Sgt. Freitas. "Kayser said he had had this number on his own program," but I am not going to play it," he said, "because I can't play it like you did." Kayser said our orchestra was the finest he had ever heard."

Sgt. Freitas and the orchestra gave one of the first memorial concerts for the late President Roosevelt. It was broadcast by WCAU, Philadelphia, on the day the president died.

Since its formation, the group has given 185 concerts, not including the 75 played in Georgia between January 1 and March 20. It has played as many as four concerts a day.

"The boys of the orchestra are very grateful for the opportunity to pursue their music in the army," Sgt. Freitas said. "They are very grateful for the opportunity to bring music to the G.I.s and civilians in a manner we hope they like to hear it."

Sgt. Freitas thinks such concert tours are improving, along with radio, the American public's appreciation of good music, and assisting in the musical education of the American public.

As for the orchestra itself, it is literally a musical "league of nations." At least seven nationalities are represented—American, Russian, Polish, Italian, French, Austrian and Portuguese. Its commanding officer now is Gen. Jacob Devers, who succeeded Gen. Stilwell in command of the army ground forces.

"Soldier Musicians"
Its members came from the CBS and NBC orchestras, from symphony orchestras in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Cleveland, and from New York city's famed Metropolitan.

"But we are soldiers first," Sgt. Freitas says. "All of us are qualified riflemen. You might say that we are soldier-musicians. We try to show the American people that the infantry is composed of boys from all walks of life. We attempt to represent the cultural side of the infantry."

The orchestra furnishes, according to Sgt. Freitas, proof that the army has at long last recognized the need for good music. It was formed expressly for G.I.s and for their diversified tastes. It has made several broadcasts, recordings for the Office of War Information, and has played in many hospitals.

Gettysburg residents may consider themselves extremely fortunate to have the opportunity to hear this concert group.

CONSERVATION PROGRAM URGED FOR SPORTSMEN

Unless the people of the United States conserve their natural resources, they will find themselves in the position of other, older nations whose resources do not meet the needs of the people, members and guests of the Littlestown Fish and Game association were told Wednesday evening at their annual "rabbit dinner" held in the basement of St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown.

The speaker was Ernest Swanger, Lebanon, secretary-treasurer of the Pennsylvania division of the Izaak Walton League and an employee of the Pennsylvania Game commission. Mr. Swanger combined a talk on safety in hunting with his appeal for the formation of a conservation program among sportsmen.

The "rabbit dinner" turned out to be a feast of roast beef and pork, ably prepared and served by members of the Missionary society of St. John's church. Inability of club members to obtain a sufficient number of rabbits for the dinner caused the substitution of the beef and pork.

Bernard E. Dillman, president of the club, presided and introduced the speakers. The invocation was given by Prof. Paul E. King, principal of the Littlestown schools. Music was furnished by the Note Busters. There were 180 in attendance.

Warning on Weapons
"We are at the midway point in the small game season," Mr. Swanger said, "and with the large game season only a couple of weeks away, it is appropriate to talk of safety in hunting."

"There is a new element entering into hunting this year, and that is the use of new weapons coming from other countries, brought back by servicemen. These weapons, in many instances, do not come up to specifications and standards of American manufacturers. There is no uniformity of caliber. If you have any of these weapons, I suggest that you hang them on the wall."

Admitting, however, that good guns were made in Germany, Mr. Swanger nevertheless urged that if weapons of German make are used, that they be taken to a gunsmith. "Be sure they are proof-tested," he said. "Have him go over the gun carefully, and let him tell you the correct caliber."

Another danger in hunting cited by Mr. Swanger is the excitement and the tension caused by hunting.

"When we go hunting our tension mounts," he said. "Remember the old adage, 'keep cool, calm and collected.' I hope you will keep cool and calm, and as you go hunting you won't be collected by the ambulence."

Dependent On Soil

Mr. Swanger pointed out the tremendous losses occasioned in this country by soil erosion. He cited that this nation, in spite of a great war, had been able to eat well.

"There is only one reason why we were able to afford this war and come through able to eat as well as we have tonight, and that is, we have the natural resources," he declared. "But unless we learn to conserve these resources and take thought to the future, we are going to reach the same point other countries have come to."

Mr. Swanger said that on seven or eight inches of top soil depend all the life of the world, and he declared that this country has lost 300,000,000 acres of top soil through erosion by wind and water.

"Soil comparable to 10,000 farms of 100 acres each is being washed away every year," he said, "and there is nothing we can do to replace it. The experts know what to do to save the soil, but the trouble is that the people vitally interested either do not know or do little about it."

"You would be doing a great thing for your country if you formed a soil conservation program in your club here. You know that rabbits need good cover and good food. The only way they can have it is through good soil. We will have to learn the great lesson of conservation, and try to keep this country as great and as strong in the future as it has been in the past."

Figures To Meet

"Soil erosion is taking away the land. The population is increasing. In 35 years the figures will meet at a point where there will be just three and a half acres per person, the amount of land it is estimated that is needed to maintain a person, at present standards. We are not going to see the day of starvation in this country, but others coming along may unless we practice conservation."

Following Mr. Swanger's talk, two reels of movies were shown, one dealing with soil conservation, and the other, in color, of a wildcat hunt. Harry E. Oakes, Wrightsville, dog law investigator of the Department of Agriculture, spoke briefly.

Committees in charge of the affair were:

County Woman Escapes Nazi Gestapo; Aids Underground, Oslo, Norway

An American girl who worked with the underground in Nazi-garrisoned Oslo, Norway, for six years has returned to the states, to visit her mother, Mrs. Maxwell Barach, at The Old Stone House, near Zora. She escaped Nazi torture and life in a concentration camp only through the alertness of the Norwegian government. In return she worked diligently and faithfully with the underground to harass the German occupation force, help patriots escape to England, and contributed much to the Allied cause.

Mrs. Jorgen Hartman is her married name. To the underground was known only as "Grynet," which, in Egyptian mythology, means a "grain of wheat." Most of her associates never knew who she was. Three times she escaped Nazi questioning by feigning illness and sending her husband to Gestapo headquarters to explain her presence in Oslo and her unknown and mysterious activities.

Saw Nazis Invade

Mrs. Barach's daughter met her husband at the Ambassador hotel, in New York, where the latter was studying the hotel business. His father, Christian Hartman, was a prominent Oslo hotel man and he sent his son to Oxford, then to the States to further his training in the hotel industry. Her husband's uncle, Dr. Nils Bohr, prominent chemist who was spirited out of Oslo by the Allies, helped perfect the atomic bomb in this country.

Shortly after midnight, April 9, 1940, the Nazis invaded Oslo. By one o'clock that afternoon the invaders had taken over all the large hotels, apartment houses and residences. Mr. and Mrs. Hartman fled into the valley of Gudbrandsdal, about 90 miles from Oslo, where they remained for a month. The Norwegian government was "right on our heels" and seven German planes bombed and strafed the motorcade as it fled into the mountains.

Escapes Arrest

When the Hartmans returned to Oslo they occupied a small apartment on the third floor of a building the Nazis had not taken over. Mr. Hartman took employment in the city and his occupation was deemed sufficiently essential to prevent his arrest and deportation to a concentration camp.

The Nazis confiscated all their radio clothing, boots, kitchen knives, radios, telephones and other items they termed "essential" to their war effort. Under the very noses of the Nazis the Hartman apartment was used as a way station by the underground for patriots who were spirited out of the country to England where they were trained in the Secret Intelligence Service. Despite Nazi vigilance the Oslo underground had radios and they had a secret radio station in the mountains, not many miles from Oslo which Mrs. Hartman helped to keep supplied with information on Nazi activities which in turn was relayed to England. And then the British bombers would appear and destroy, with almost pin-point accuracy, what the invaders had just finished building.

Smash Boche Work

The underground would wait until the Nazis had completed building a factory or some other war installation. Word would be flashed to the British with resulting devastation for the Boche.

Mrs. Hartman worked with a young Norwegian law student. They bribed underpaid Nazis to secure information. The 400,000 odd Germans who swarmed all over Oslo and vicinity were unable to cope with the work of the underground. Many prominent Norwegians, however, gave their lives for their country. For every act of underground sabotage the Nazis brutally murdered a dozen or more prominent Oslo residents. But even this did not daunt the underground.

Throughout the war underground agents came and left Oslo. They went to England or Sweden or wherever British intelligence directed them. They were armed with the famous British Sten gun, a machine pistol, which was dropped by the thousands by the British, in Norway. Food and clothing also parachuted to the underground from the skies. One Norwegian made more than 800 Sten guns in Oslo. Parts were made in various sections of the city, assembled at a central point and distributed to patriots. The Nazis were dumbfounded and never did find out where they came from.

Escapes Death

Russian prisoners in Norway also helped the Allied cause. One of their acts of sabotage nearly cost Mrs. Hartman her life. The Russians destroyed a large German ammunition dump near Oslo in the afternoon of December 19, 1943. The blast wreck-

At a brief business session, the association voted to give $5 to the Littlestown Girl Scouts. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $541.21.

County Driver, 77, Nabbed After Crash

A 77-year-old York Springs man was arrested Wednesday by state police from Carlisle after the auto which he was driving collided with another car at an intersection near Goodyear.

Police said he is Charles Menges, who is charged with making an improper turn and will be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Clarence Starnier, Gardner's R. D. The driver of the other auto was Reubin Showers, 20, of Biglerville R. 1, police said. Both persons escaped injury.

JAIL FUGITIVE STILL AT LARGE

Jeri C. Caldwell, 24, of Danville, Ky., the former serviceman who escaped from the Adams county jail late Tuesday afternoon, was still at large Thursday, but the search for him continued in several states.

Only person known to have seen Caldwell after his escape was a truck driver, who reported seeing the prisoner on the Littlestown road a short distance from Gettysburg about 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Caldwell was arrested by state police and committed to jail by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder in default of a $25 fine on a motor code violation. He escaped by climbing from the jail exercise yard to the roof of the cell block by means of a bench, and sliding down a rain spout.

ed many buildings including the apartment house in which the Hartmans resided. The walls and roof collapsed and only a miracle saved Mrs. Hartman. For the next 14 hours Mrs. Hartman lay hidden in the basement wreckage of her home.

A short time before this act of sabotage the Hartmans had purchased a goose for $50 for their Xmas dinner. The destruction of the ammunition dump also carried away the goose. The daily fare for the next three weeks was oatmeal.

But the British soon replenished the food stock. They dropped containers of corned beef, spam, raspberry and strawberry jam, rum, cigarettes, chocolate bars with vitamins and other essentials to keep the underground active.

Change Residence Often

After the Hartmans lost their home they changed residence every two weeks through the remainder of the war to elude Nazi vigilance. Mrs. Hartman never spoke English in public and transacted all her affairs in Norwegian which she speaks fluently.

She said they welcomed British air raids and most of the time knew when they were coming. On only one occasion, she recalls, did the British fliers miss their mark. In their attempt to mine the waters near Oslo they dropped 14 large mines in the city.

Food rationing under the Nazis consisted in the main of hard bread, made of straw of wheat, tree bark, turnips, dried fish when available (the Nazis confiscated all the fresh fish), tea made of apple leaves and such things.

On one occasion all Oslo residents were confined to their homes for two weeks as Nazi patrols goose-stepped through the streets seeking saboteurs.

Warmest Memory

The freshest and warmest memory Mrs. Hartman has of her experiences while fighting the Boche started at 4 p. m. on May 8, 1945. That was the beginning of the end of Nazi domination in Norway.

A week before, the British radioed the Norwegian underground to be on the alert, to stand by for "good news." The patriots sensed the impending collapse of Germany and they started to make preparations. The home front had established secret camps in the mountains above Oslo. On May 7 they started their trek to the city, to be on hand when the "great news" came. At appointed rendezvous they were met by the underground who supplied them with uniforms, guns and other items.

Pandemonium Breaks

At 4 p. m. on May 8 the "flash" was received. Pandemonium broke loose in Oslo. From every household poured happy, shouting Norwegians. They were wearing their Sunday best. Norwegian, British and American flags appeared from nowhere. Flags were hoisted all over the city and the dreaded swastika was torn down. Lights went on all over the city at 8 p. m.

There was an abundance of Allied enthusiasm, singing, shouting and cheering. But the Nazis were sulking in their camps. The home front took over until the British and later the Americans arrived.

Mrs. Hartman wore a red sweater, blue skirt and white blouse with an American flag pinned on the blouse. She and her associates were photographed countless times by grateful Norwegians who knew of their work during the past two years.

The celebrations continued for more than a week.

Had Two Duds

May 17 is a national holiday in Norway. To celebrate this event Mrs. Hartman and her partners decided to explode two hand grenades they had secreted near their hidden radio station, for use in event of a Nazi attack. When Mrs. Hartman hurried the grenades they failed to explode. Patriots fired rifle shots into the grenades but without result. An in-

CONCERT STAR APPEARS HERE NOVEMBER 29TH

Solveig Lundel the young California concert pianist who is scheduled for the first concert November 29 in Brua Chapel on the college campus in the series of three sponsored by the Gettysburg Concert association, made her debut recital at the Town Hall in New York city on December 6, 1944, and received immediate acclaim.

Born in Vallejo, just outside of San Francisco, to a Norwegian father and a mother of French-English extraction, the titian-haired Solveig assimilated all possible benefits from her family: musicianship, a well-rounded childhood, and not the least important, her appealing looks.

Her parents met each other when her mother became a pupil of Solveig's father, an excellent amateur violinist, who was a zealous guide and stern critic for his young daughter.

Began Career Early

There was no delay in commencing Solveig's education. At three the youngster was already working at the ballet bar, and at four she was climbing to the keyboard. She took piano lessons until she was 11, when her interest was temporarily diverted to her school work, in which she was always an honor student, and to expert horseback riding and sailing in competition with her two older brothers.

But Miss Lundel had by no means abandoned music when she stopped her lessons. On the contrary, the next four years was a period of vital musical activity, reading through the entire violin-piano literature with her father and playing chamber music with his quartet.

She resumed piano studies immediately after graduation from high school with Harold Logan in Berkeley, remaining his pupil until 1940, when she was awarded a fellowship at the Juillard Graduate school to study with Madame Olga Samaroff-Stokowski.

Shows Mature Poise

The harbinger of her Town Hall success was the "prodigious technique" Miss Lundel displayed as soloist with the Chautauqua symphony and "the poise of maturity and the suppleness of youth" shown in recitals at the Berkshire museum in Pittsfield.

Miss Lundel played numerous times on Madame Samaroff-Stokowski's 20-week broadcast series over WQXR. Shortly after her New York debut, she was engaged to make her Baltimore recital debut and to appear as soloist with the Scranton Philharmonic symphony.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS MEET

The Girl Scout Leaders' club of Adams county met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Robert Lau, East Berlin, with 16 present. Miss Marion Tupper, Lone Troop consultant, presided, and the activities of the various troops were discussed.

A number of troops reported increased community interest and support, particularly Littlestown, East Berlin and York Springs. Special meeting rooms for the use of the Girl Scouts have been provided free of charge in these communities.

Early plans were made for a court of award to be held after the first of the year.

East Berlin reported the formation of a senior troop, and New Oxford reported the formation of a new Brownie troop.

The program consisted of plaster of paris moulding, under the direction of Miss Catherine Ross, leader of the Cardinal troop.

section of the two pieces disclosed that they were defective.

Mrs. Hartman says she hopes she'll never have to eat bread again. But, she says, "I can't get enough bananas and oranges and ice cream sodas."

After a visit with her family, relatives and friends in this country she will return to Oslo to rejoin her husband and her 3-year old daughter, who was unable to make the trip to America with her mother.

Captain Maxwell Barach, who served with the Intelligence division on MacArthur's staff, sailed November 2 from Heijo, Korea, for the states. He is expected to reach his home near Zora about December 1.

Seven Service Men Granted Discharges

Five more Adams county soldiers and two sailors have received their discharges from the armed forces.

Those discharged at Indiantown Gap included T/4 Sterling K. Shindedecker, 217 West Middle street; T/5 Orlyn R. Hixon, 226 Steinwehr avenue; Pfc. Robert J. Cole, Aspers R. 1; Cpl. Clyde W. Stambaugh, New Oxford, and Pfc. John L. Dillon, Orrtanna R. 2.

John H. Hall, MM 2/C, Orrtanna R. 2, and George S. Sipling, BKR 2/C, 520 South street, McSherrystown, received their discharges at Bainbridge, Md.

HOLD SERVICES FOR DEPARTED FIREMEN SUNDAY

The Adams County Firemen's association will hold its nineteenth annual memorial services in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The program, in charge of the Littlestown Ministerial association, has been planned by the memorial committee of the firemen's association, including George A. McClellan, Harry W. Badders and Henry W. Waltman.

The memorial address will be delivered by the Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed church, Littlestown, whose subject will be "There Is No Death." The memory of twenty-five firemen who have died since the last service was conducted will be honored. Included are three firemen who died in the service of their country.

The service will open with an organ prelude, "Eventide (Abide With Me)," J. Frank Frysinger, played by Mrs. Winfield A. Lippy, organist. After the singing of a hymn by the choir, the Rev. Robert H. Sheehan, pastor of the Centenary Methodist church, Littlestown, will give the invocation.

Then will follow a selection by a quartet composed of Albert Blair, Clarence Schwartz, Jr., Robert Scholl and Robert DeGroot, and the hymn, "America, The Beautiful."

The roll call of departed firemen will be read by L. U. Collins, Two Taverns, secretary of the association. After the memorial address by the Rev. Mr. Brumbach, the Firemen's memorial hymn will be sung with Robert Scholl, bugler, sounding "Reveille" and "Taps." The service will conclude with the singing of "America," the benediction by the Rev. Charles B. Rebert, Littlestown, and the postlude, "March Pontificale," Charles Gounod, by Mrs. Lippy.

STRESSES NEED FOR BOND BUYING

"We must make sure that the public does not think that the war is over and that there is no real need of additional funds for war purposes," Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the Adams County War Finance committee told members of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening at the club's meeting in the YWCA.

"Heavy expenditures are still incurred by the armed forces in maintaining armies of occupation, transportation of men and material back to this country and in the hospitalization of war casualties," he declared.

The debt can be paid, Mr. Thomas said, either by taxation or the purchase of bonds, and he urged the latter as a means of lowering the tax rate. He urged particularly the continuation of payroll deduction, adding that the most difficult quota to meet is that of the E bonds.

Dr. Thomas L. Cline, a co-chairman of the county war bond drive, urged individuals as well as employers to continue their purchases of bonds, and stated that "we must either buy more bonds or face the alternative of high taxes."

Frederic Griest, member of the committee on Rotary information, conducted a quiz on the history and administration of Rotary International and regulations governing a local Rotary club. Mr. Griest served in place of William Tyson, who was called out of town.

President James S. Cairns presided with 35 members and guests in attendance. In addition to Dr. Cline, C. A. Beck, Rotarian of Piedmont, W. Va., was a guest.

FIRE COMPANY PRESIDENT IS RE-NOMINATED

Despite his announcement that he wished to retire from office and did not want his name to be placed in nomination James B. Aumen,
